GOVERNMENT estimates the present population of the United States right here at home at 118,628,000. The country has gained 12,917,880 in the last six years, one million and a half in the last year.

All this is encouraging, although it is too slow. We need fifty million more people now to eat surplus products of farms, buy new automobiles and "used car" bargains.

PEOPLE are the real wealth of the world.

BAY STATE CHAMPION GOES OVER COURSE IN 22 HOURS 45 MINUTES

Long Beach, Cal., Feb. 1 (A.P.). — Henry F. Sullivan of Lowell, Mass., declared today that he swam from a point near the Isthmus of Santa Catalina Island to Point Vicente on the mainland yesterday after 22 hours and 45 minutes in the water. He said there were nine witnesses to the successful swim.

His reported time was approximately 7 hours longer than that required by George Young of Toronto, who landed at the same point less than sixteen hours after he left the isthmus in quest of the $25,000 Wrigley prize.

COLORED MAID WINS $3,750 LOVE VERDICT

Exactly $3,750 was awarded Daisy J. Turner, colored maid of Lexington, by a jury today in Middlesex Probate Court, after 18 hours of deliberation.

She was awarded that sum from Joseph V. Boinay of Lexington, an automobile dealer in Commonwealth avenue, who she charged with breach of promise.

She also charged him with making false charges of larceny against her and with illegally searching her premises for articles he falsely alleged she had stolen from him.

In these last two charges, verdicts were returned in favor of Boinay. She had asked $1,500 damages on the charges of larceny and $10,000 for the alleged illegal search.

For alleged breach of promise the maid sought $25,000 from Boinay.

The case was given to the jury at 3:30 p. m. yesterday, the subsequent deliberations carrying the jurors all through the night until just before time of court opening today.

Miss Turner heard her award calmly, with almost a shade of disappointment apparent in her face.

"I am vindicated, however," she said.

ELEVATED OPERATING LOSS NEARLY $500,000

The Boston Elevated Railway operated at a loss of $482,749.12 for the year 1926, according to the report of the Board of Public Trustees, issued today.

Labor cost and snow removal expense were the chief factors in causing this excess cost of service over receipts, the trustees reported. A total of $484,165.12 was spent for snow removal, an amount greater by nearly $1,500 than the year's net loss.

There were 6,182,115 more passengers carried last year than 1925. The total number of passengers was 371,218,401 and they poured $[illegible],393,953.96 into the coin boxes of the company.

Elevated employes drew in wages more than half this amount, $17,697,-

BOXER SHOT TO DEATH IN DESPERATE BATTLE

Lowell, Feb. 1.—After a struggle to the death in the darkness of the Otis-Allen & Sons box factory here, Patrolman Anthony D. Christo, formerly a local boxer, shot and killed John Greenhalge, twenty-year-old youth, of No. 29 Clare street.

Christo was patrolling his beat on Mt. Vernon street early today when he heard a crash of glass from the box factory. Hurrying to the factory he found that a pane of glass had been broken in a small window which allowed a marauder to put his hand through and unlock the door.

The door was locked, but Christo, using the same method that the burglar had used, made entrance. In the factory office he heard the sound of somebody moving about; but

CALLS CHAPLIN MOODY MAN

In her second installment of her life with Charlie Chaplin, Mildred Harris tells of the early days of their honeymoon. Mildred Harris is the woman who first called the great screen comedian husband, and her fascinating memoirs of her life with him pulsate with romance.

By MILDRED HARRIS.

(Copyright, 1927, by Mildred Harris. Reproduction, whole, or in part, prohibited.)

I was very happy when Charlie and I were engaged and just after we were married. There was so much about him that I did not know, although I thought I knew him well.

I did not realize until afterward that the Charlie Chaplin who walked with me on the shining sands of the beach was only one side of the real Charlie Chaplin. I was in love, and I thought I knew all about it.

When I became Charlie Chaplin's wife, I went to him as any girl bride goes to her husband, in a mist of glorious dreams. I felt, as he slipped the ring on my finger, that it sealed our compact as perfect accord.

I remember that once he said to me:

"Mildred, I feel so awed by the love that has brought us together. All my life, it seems, I have been looking for you. I have wanted

'DADDY' TELLS HIS OWN STORY OF HONEYMOON TRIP WITH 'CINDERELLA'

White Plains, N. Y., Feb. 1.—Debonair and immaculately dressed, Edward W. ("Daddy") Browning, 52-year-old New York City millionaire, took the witness stand today and told of his honeymoon trip with his 16-year-old wife, "Peaches" Heenan Browning.

While "Peaches" sat glaring at him in open scorn he denied that while on this trip he asked her to parade around their suite unclad or subjected her to any alleged cruelties.

BROWNING TELLS OWN STORY OF 'CINDERELLA' ROMANCE

During their honeymoon he said he gave her many gifts of jewelry and clothing.

He scoffed at the charge that he ever hopped around on the floor on his hands and knees or scared his bride by shouting "Boo" behind her back.

Among gifts he gave his wife, he said, were 300 diamonds. He denied he ever threw "Peaches" out of bed or had anything to do with the mysterious acid burns she received just before their marriage.

In regard to their wedding night, Browning was asked:

Q.—Where did you stay on the first night of your marriage? A.—We had dinner at the apartments of Mr. Dale (his attorney) in the Gramatan, and from there we went to my apartments and later to Cold Spring.

"Daddy" Takes Stand

Q.—Now Mr. Browning, it has been testified that at Cold Springs you threw your wife from the bed to the floor, and also, that you asked her to walk around the room unclad. Is that so?

A.—It is not. We sat on the side of the bed together. She had on her night-gown.

There was a sudden silence in the court room when "Daddy" took the stand. He raised his right hand and was sworn in. He touched his thin gray hair with his hands and took his seat in the witness box. He wore a blue suit, high stiff collar and a tie of scrambled egg pattern. Three fat cigars stuck out of his breast pocket.

His beady, dark-brown eyes swept the court room, which was packed to the door. He looked puffy about the eyes as he sat there and answered questions rapidly, clearly and at times verbosely.

Questioning of "Daddy" was started by his chief attorney, John E. Mack.

Q.—How old are you, Mr. Browning? A.—Fifty-two.

"Peaches" Asked for Job

Q.—Your business? A.—Real estate.

Q.—How long have you been at it? A.—Sixteen years.

Q.—Tell us when you met Frances Heenan Browning. A.—At the McAlpin Hotel. I had just been to a dance at the Plaza and wanted to stay there for half an hour. I met 377.55. This was the railway's largest single item of expense, and it was practically half of all the expenses. Other large items were materials, depreciations, rent of leased roads, subway and tunnel rents and interest.

The total paid for injuries and damages was $261,000 more than for the preceding year. Increased use of busses, which depreciate more rapidly than other equipment, increased the depreciation charge by $346,000.

Service by busses increased from 2,472,456 in 1925 to 4,717,900 last year, and one-man car mileage also increased, from 13,271,296 to 14,419,209 miles. Two-man surface car operation decreased slightly.

As compared with the 1926 loss, there was in 1925 a gain of $502,193.85. The figures are for the calendar year ended December 31. The "trustee year" ends June 30 and by that time the trustees hope to report "an even break."

PUTS UP ARGUMENT AFTER DRUG CASE CONVICTION

Tobias Thompson of Lakeview park, Waltham, argued eloquently for leniency before Judge James M. Devlin today after being found guilty of possession of morphine. But when the man's court record was produced the court commented that "if he did other than sentence the defendant he would not have the mentality of a five-year-old child."

Thompson was arrested at Washington and East Canton streets by Detectives Caverley and Norton of headquarters. He had 40 grains of morphine in his pockets, the police testified. Thompson appealed.

DORCHESTER BOY NEAR DEATH UNDER TRUCK

William P. Durant, aged five, of Dorchester, almost lost his life today, when he fell in the path of a truck in Quincy street. Police say the boy was riding on a team when he fell.

John A. Powers, of Olney street, Dorchester, operator of the truck, carried the boy to the office of a nearby physician. He was later taken to City Hospital, suffering from a fractured right leg and cuts about the head.

today, declaring that he had swum the San Pedro channel from Santa Catalina Island in 22 hours and 45 minutes. Sullivan disappeared in the direction of his hotel after climbing onto the pier.

Sullivan, who conquered the English Channel several years ago but failed in the recent island marathon race, won by George Young of Toronto, Ont., had been quietly training here for the last fortnight in preparation for another attempt at the channel crossing.

If Sullivan started from the isthmus on the island where the marathon began Jan. 15, he covered nearly 30 miles to the pier here.

His reported time was approximately seven hours more than that required by the youthful Canadian who bucked the channel currents in the early stages of the swim and then angled on the tide drifts to land at Point Vincente in less than 16 hours.

Although Sullivan was reported to have been accompanied by a convoying boat, no trace of the swimmer was found last night by searching craft sent out from San Pedro.

ATHOL NATIONAL BANK BUYS STARRETT BLOCK

Athol, Feb. 1 (A.P.)—Papers will be passed today transferring the Starrett block from Main street to the Athol National Bank, it was learned from William G. Lord, vice-president of the bank. The purchase price was not divulged but the cost of construction was about $115,000. The block was constructed by L. S. Starrett and the sale is by his heirs.

QUINCY MAY BUY LIGHT PLANT

The Quincy City Council has adopted a resolution calling for the appointment of five men as a commission to study the feasibility of the city acquiring the Quincy Electric Light & Power Company's plant, and to make a report not later than July 1. The order, which was introduced by Councilman Russell T. Bates, designates that the commission be made up of three members of the City Council and two others to be appointed by Mayor Thomas J. McGrath.

The council also favored an order calling for the appointment of two members as a committee to attend a hearing before the Public Utilities Commission on Feb. 10 when the question of a reduction of rates by the Quincy Electric Light & Power Company will come up. The Quincy company was one of those named by Governor Fuller as being able to make a reduction in rates. The rate of the Quincy company is about 12 cents a kilowatt hour with a discount for payment within a designated time.

The patrolman ordered the man to release his hold, but when the grip about his legs was only tightened Christo grew his gun, and shot his assailant squarely through the top of the head.

Greenhalge, who must have died almost instantly, was dead when the groping policeman finally found the switch which threw on the lights.

Drawers had been hurriedly opened in various desks, and the patrolman had evidently come upon Greenhalge in the act of attempting to loot the place. Greenhalge had a long criminal record, according to the police.

News of the nullification became public in November and created international interest. Episcopal dignitaries, including Bishop Manning of New York, strongly criticised the action of the Catholic authorities. When reports of the nullification proceedings first were made public it was stated that they were initiated to "regularize" the Duke's position and permit his entry into the Catholic faith.

3 CONSTABLES ARRESTED

New Bedford, Feb. 1.—Three Westport constables were arrested by U. S. Customs Inspector Charles Driscoll and Chief of Police Albert Livesy today, charged with the illegal possession of 365 five-gallon cans of alcohol, alleged to have been the cargo of the wrecked schooner Dorothy Earle that went ashore on Horse Neck beach in Westport.

The constables, all from Westport, are: Harry Sherman, Charles H. Hitt, and Homer Brightman. They were arraigned later in the day before United States Commissioner George E. Lilley in this city. The alcohol, according to the arresting officers, was found in a barn, a short distance from the wrecked schooner.

The arrest of the three constables and the seizure of the alcohol, followed word sent to the Customs House here that an unidentified schooner had gone ashore at Horse Neck beach during the night, and was pounding to pieces in the surf.

DOUBLE GUARD ON NEGRO WHO CONFESSED SLAYING

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 1 (A.P.)—Horace D. Devaughn, negro, who has confessed to slaying Mrs Ruby Thornton and A. B. Moore, January 19, was in the Jefferson county jail today under double guard to insure his safety. Mr. Moore was supervisor of safety and sanitation for the Southern Railway.

Devaughn claimed he was walking along the lonely road on which Moore's automobile was parked when he was accosted by the white man. Moore started to advance and the negro fired, he said. Mrs. Thornton ran into the woods. She was shot in the back 50 yards away, Devaughn declared. The negro took Moore's watch and money, he said.

MOTHER'S LOVE WINS OUT FOR MRS. MOCK

Mother love triumphed for Mrs. Claire L. Mock, divorced wife of Louis F. Mock, Boston furrier, in Middlesex County Probate Court today. Judge Arthur L. Beane ruled she could see her two children, Louis F., Jr., and Joseph John Mock, at "reasonable and proper times."

The ruling ends a legal battle over the custody of the boys that has waged since the Boston and Brookline man was given a divorce on the ground of cruel and abusive treatment, in which he was given custody of the children.

Shortly before Christmas Mrs. Mock filed a petition for modification of the divorce decree and requested the custody of the children. She claimed she had not seen them for some time and should have them for the holidays. Subsequent to the ruling today, Judge Beane asked attorneys for Mrs. Mock and her husband to arrange for the mother to see the children.

The attorneys, however, reported they could not agree, as Mock remained firm in the belief he should have the children. Her counsel pointed out Mrs. Mock had not seen the children since before Christmas and she wanted to say good-bye to them as she was going to Florida.

Judge Beane announced he was going to dismiss Mrs. Mock's petition without prejudice, but he would rule she she could see the children at reasonable periods.

PIN LIKE SLAIN GIRL OWNED IS FOUND

A cameo brooch similar to the one worn by Maybelle Matheson, murdered West Roxbury girl, was found today in Centre street, Jamaica Plain, and police inspectors are trying to learn if it is the dead girl's strangely missing pin.

Maybelle's telephone calls on the day she was killed are also being traced. Police believe this inquiry may reveal identity of the man with whom she was to go to the Robert Burns celebration that night.

A Boston inspector is in Nova Scotia making an investigation, it was disclosed. He may scrutinize Maybelle's letters home to discover names that may have a connection with the mysterious slaying.

Police Inspectors Harry Pierce, Cornelius Leary and Harrow, together with Captain James P. Smith of West Roxbury division, planned also to question Florence Massarrelli of Dedham again for additional light on Maybelle's plans for the dance.

It is possible the girl telephoned during the day to break a "date" and that this led to the attack on her way home.

All persons mentioned in her "little red diary" will be questioned, according to police.

HUB NURSE AND 2 NUNS HURT IN WRECK

Miss Sarah C. Ellis, for several years head of the Nurses' Club, No. 64 Westland avenue, and two Dorchester nuns were injured at Oxford Junction, Nova Scotia, in a head-on collision between trains that killed Fireman Donald Carruthers of Moncton, N. B.

Including the three from Boston, there were seventeen passengers injured in the crash when the two crack Canadian National Railway trains came together on a siding, 150 miles north of Halifax.

The trains involved were the "Ocean Limited" bound for Halifax, N. S., from Montreal, and "Maritime Express," from Halifax to Montreal.

On the "Ocean Limited," pulled up on a siding, were Miss Ellis, bound for Truro, N. S. to attend the funeral of a sister; Sister Hattie Gertrude and Sister Gregory of Dorchester, bound for Mt. St. Vincent Academy, Rockingham, N. S., and Miss Kathleen Stofford of New York, a student, whose destination was also the school.

Another dozen or more passengers, less seriously injured, were given local treatment and continued on their journeys on relief trains.

Miss Ellis, well known in the Hub as a nurse and proprietor of the Nurses' Club, left Boston Sunday night for Truro, N. S., planning to be at Truro in time to meet the body of her sister, Mrs. Jessie Creelman, coming in from Vancouver, B. B., where Mrs. Creelman died at th home of a daughter, Mrs. Hugh McDonald.

DISAPPOINTED
Washington, soon after his marriage, sent an order to London for busts of great warriors—only to receive filigree poetic statues, not at all to his liking.

FIELD SPORTS
Washington's diary at this time shows that he spent much of his leisure time in hunting. He was accompanied often by his step son, "Jacky" Custis.

LIKED YOUNGSTERS
Washington was fond of children. He remembered the names of those he had met and his pockets were often full of presents for his favorites.

HEARST PEACE PLAN PRAISED BY BODFISH

"While I am an isolationist to a large extent, I believe much good would come from an alliance of English speaking nations, such as William Randolph Hearst suggests," said George A. Bodfish, chairman of the Suffolk County Council American Legion, to a Boston Evening American reporter.

Geo. A. Bodfish

"I feel that much good would result from a better mutual understanding on the part of all the English-speaking peoples of the world. A great deal could be done along educational lines.

"Better understanding among the people of the various English-speaking nations is a most desirable thing.

FAVORS AN ALLIANCE.

"Increased good will between the people of the United States and Canada, England, Ireland, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa would be an excellent thing. They all have interests in common, all having sprung from the same stock.

"I believe, as Mr. Hearst does, that an alliance of all English-speaking nations would constitute a powerful influence in world affairs. I also believe with him that such an alliance should not be an offensive one and that it should not take aggressive acts towards other nations. It is my opinion that an alliance of the right sort would help tremendously in maintaining world peace.

MUST HAVE EQUAL SAY.

"As to the details of how such an alliance should be worked out I have no definite views. In matters involving mutual interests it might be difficult to work out the details.

"For instance, I believe that the various British commonwealths should not be permitted to have more votes than the United States in matters involving our affairs.

"I feel that the other nations to such a compact would naturally vote with England and against us.

"The idea appeals to me provided this matter of proper representation and voting strength could be arranged. It is high time the English-speaking peoples of the world began pulling together in unison.

Award Husband $1 As Balm In Suit Over Wife's Love

Worcester, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—A jury in Superior Civil Court reported for the plaintiff and assessed damages of $1 in the $10,000 suit of Ferdinand Lamoni of Rochester, N. Y., formerly of Southbridge, against Armand Jendreau of Southbridge, in which the plaintiff charged alienation of his wife's affections.

The plaintiff claimed he and his wife separated in June, 1925, when he learned of her acquaintance with the defendant. According to the testimony, the Lamoines effected a reconciliation in the Fall of 1925 and moved to Rochester. Mrs. Lamoine testified as a witness for her husband.

Boy Struck by Auto

John Stellmokeas, 14-year-old errand boy, of Tudor street, South Boston, is held for treatment at the Haymarket Relief Station, the result of an automobile accident. The boy was struck as he was crossing Milk street, at Oliver, and he suffered a fracture of the right leg.

HIS WINE SAFE UNDER STATE DRY LAW

That unlawfully made liquor cannot be seized under the baby Volstead act except under certain conditions, was the ruling made today by Judge Thomas H. Dowd, who said that the authorities must look to the Legislature for broadening powers.

Only when a conviction for illegal sale, exposing with intent to sell or illegal transportation, has been obtained can such liquor be seized, the court ruled, after Attorney Thomas J. Grady had quoted from Chapter 138 of the baby Volstead law.

The defendant involved was Charles Lochi of Anthony place, North End, who pleaded guilty to the illegal manufacture of wine. He was fined $50 and given a suspended sentence of one month.

Sergeant Robert Mooney of the Hanover street station, following the conviction, applied for a warrant to seize Lochi's stock of wine, which the court refused to approve.

FIRST MINSTREL SHOW OF LONGFELLOW CLUB

The first minstrel show of the Longfellow Club of Roslindale will be held Wednesday and Thursday nights at the Rialto Theatre, Roslindale. Those taking prominent parts in the show are: W. H. Brayton, interlocutor; Fred Jordan, Harold Meyer, John Wilson, Clayton Havey, Victor Lindstrom and Richard Benson, end men; A. C. Boecker, John Wilson, H. Heald, Richard Wilson and Virginia Emery, soloists. Richard Wilson and H. Heald are featured.

SAYS TAINTED MONEY COST HIM A FINGER

Colchester, Conn., Feb. 1 (A.P.).—The claim of Timothy F. Kelley that "filthy lucre" was responsible for the loss of a finger failed to elicit the desired sympathy from Compensation Commissioner Albert J. Bailey, so Kelley's claim for compensation has been disallowed.

As tax collector for this town for five years, Kelley has handled quite a little cash, and he maintained infection from handling "tainted money" was responsible for blood poisoning which made necessary amputation of the finger.

PLAN STERILIZATION OF ALL DEGENERATES

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Sterilization of all inadequate and degenerate persons is provided in a bill introduced in the Nebraska State Senate.

A socially inadequate person is defined as "one who by his or her own effort fails chronically in comparison with normal persons to maintain himself as a useful member of organized life of the State."

CHAPMAN ONLY 'ONE DEAD' ON PRISON ROLL

Hartford, Ct., Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Gerald Chapman, who was hanged for the murder of a New Britain policeman at the State Prison last April, is not mentioned by name in the annual report of the State Prison directors sent to the General Assembly today. The transfer of Chapman from Atlanta Penetentiary to Wethersfield is recorded as "one Federal prisoner transferred." His death is covered as "one execution."

Rev. M. P. Barry, prison chaplain, in his report, made no mention of Chapman by name. Whether Chapman accepted spiritual consolation in his last hours has never begn known. Father Barry said: "There was one execution during the period. It was our privilege to render spiritual consolation to this man, to be with him during his last moments, and to accompany him to the execution chamber."

Father Barry went to the death cell several hours before the execution and remained throughout the evening. Chapman as a boy had served on the altar at the church in New York.

WIDOW'S STORY RULED OUT OF WINTERS CASE

Woodstock, Vt., Feb. 1.—The State fought hard but in vain for the admission of the testimony of Mrs. Stephany Cole, attractive Windsor widow, at the trial of John C. Winters for the murder of Cecelia Gullivan today.

It was through Mrs Cole, who alleged Winters made improper advances to her the night of the murder, that the state hoped to estalish motive against Winters, it being contended that the slain girl was criminally attacked before her death.

Attorneys for the opposing sides argued vigorously at the bench of Judge Frank D. Thompson for a number of minutes, the court at the conclusion ruling that Mrs. Cole's testimony could not be admitted.

During the debate at the bench Mrs. Cole, who had taken her place in the witness chair, said:

"Your Honor, may I say something?"

"No, you need not," returned Judge Thompson.

William N. Ayer, a Windsor truckman, who is alleged to have held certain conversation with Winters the night of the murder, was called, but defense Attorney Herbert Tupper immediately objected when the State's questioning began. Another conference at the bench resulted and Ayer was dismissed, his testimony barred out.

James Coburn of Windsor was the first today whose examination did not stir the objections of the defense. He told of meeting Winters the night the Gullivan girl was slain and said Winters, though showing the effect of liquor, was not drunk.

"The second time Winters offered me his bottle I put it to my lips because Winters is a friend of mine but I did not take a drink," Coburn said.

Boy, Call an Air-Taxi! London Now Ready To Supply Them

London, Feb. 1 (A.P.)—It will be almost as easy to call "an air-taxi" in the future as it is to hail an automobile taxi at the present time.

"Air-Taxis Limited" has been registered for the purpose of providing airplanes to carry passengers and freight. The directors of the company declare anyone telephoning them for an airplane to Cairo or other places nearer home can be accommodated without delay. For short inland journeys, they say, the air taxi will be cheaper than the road taxi.

They predict that one-seater machines will soon be on the market for general use.

WHEN YOUR FOOD FAILS TO DIGEST

And Gurgles up in Sour Risings or Heartburn

Try a little diapepsin. Beats the world for stomach comfort. Hard to tell what upsets a stomach. Sometimes it's milk or fresh bread or steak and onions. Almost anything will cause gas, biliousness or heartburn. But whatever it is diapepsin works like magic. It actually digests food, rests the stomach, absorbs the sour, acid, brashy risings from whatever cause. Even in the morning, if you get up with a coated tongue, feel nauseated and the thought of breakfast repels food, one or two diapepsins will make you feel good and want to eat.

Anyone at the mercy of restaurants and lunch counters can fortify their stomach against trouble with one or two diapepsins after eating.

MANY PRIESTS AT FUNERAL

St. Joseph's Church, Union square, Somerville, was filled today at the funeral services for Miss Catherine McGrath, sister of the Rt. Rev. Mgr. Christopher T. McGrath, pastor of the church.

Four monsignors, seventy-five priests, delegations of Sisters of the Notre Dame and Xaverian Brothers attended the solemn high mass.

The Rev. Albert C. Mullin, pastor of the Church of the Nativity at Merrimac, an former curate at St. Joseph's, was the celebrant, with the Rev. James P. F. Kelley, pastor of St. John the Evangelist Church, North Cambridge, as deacon, and the Rev. George T. Eberle, S. J., as subdeacon.

The Rev. Thomas F. McCarthy, pastor of St. Clement's Church, West Somerville, was master of ceremonies. The Rev. Francis X. Salloway of St. Mary's Church, Dedham, was thurifer, and the acolytes were the Rev. Ambrose A. Dore of St. John's Church, North Cambridge, and the Rev. John R. McCool.

The bearers were Dr. M. W. White, William C. Sharkey, Frederick J. White, William E. Cotter, Thomas F. McGann and William T. Crotty.

Interment was in St. Paul's Cemetery, Arlington.

REVERE WOMAN RENEWS $100,000 WILL FIGHT

Miss Irene M. Huebel of Revere has renewed her fight against Burton J. Baldwin, executor of the $100,000 estate of her aunt, Amanda S. Muenchinger. In a petition at Newport, R. I., where the aunt lived, the Revere woman alleges that Baldwin is physically incompetent and that he has failed to adhere to the terms of the will.

Miss Huebel has sought to break the will, alleging undue influence, but she has been unsuccessful. In the first instance, after a verdict for the defendant, the Supreme Court ordered a new trial on exceptions. In the second trial the jury disagreed.

SCHOOL CALL SAVES 2 BOYS

School days, the bane of nearly every small boy at some time or another in the career, saved the lives of two Chelsea boys today, when their mother upon going to their room to start them for school, found both overcome by illuminating gas that had been accidentally turned on from a wall bracket.

The two near victims of an untimely death were Leo and Felix Cassidy, 10 and 13 years old respectively, of 21 Suffolk street, Chelsea. The brothers are usually up on time for school. Today when they failed to appear as usual, the mother investigated and found them unconscious in the gas-filled room.

Turning off the gas and throwing open the windows, she called for help. The police responded, and after reviving the boys by the prone method, removed them to Chelsea Memorial Hospital, where they are held for treatment.

Discover Groundhog In Cahoots With Weather Man

The Groundhog slides out for a place in the sun tomorrow, surrounded by legend and lore and all.

The story is that if he does find some sun and sees his shadow, he will become frightened or something and scurry back, thus handing out another six weeks of Winter; if the day is overcast and he sees no shadow, then Spring is on the threshold.

This is a fine idea, but the Groundhog has been a pet of the Weather Man's lately—and really you could score his hits on the tip of a gnat's eyelash.

On the subject of Winter, you can judge better by the condition of your coal bin. If it is down to the crumbs, there will be six weeks more at least.

SEIZE 4 BOYS IN 23 BREAKS

Worcester, Feb. 1 (A.P.)—Four boy [illegible] ranging in age from [illegible] years, armed with 32-calibre revolvers, and who are alleged by the police to have participated in 23 breaks and two attempted safe robberies in various parts of the city during the past two months, were arrested today.

Two of the boys are alleged to have planned and furnished a [illegible] of the breaks.

These were the names of Chester [illegible]; Thomas Graves, 13; Earle Johnson, [illegible], and Edward Gleason, [illegible]. They implicated two other boys who, police said, would be arrested later.

The boys said that in their attempted safe robberies they removed the knobs but were unable to get into the strong boxes.

Fire Threatens Calais

Calais, Me., Feb. 1 (A.P.)—The business section of this city was threatened early today when fire destroyed the Elite dance hall and a garage on the ground floor, with six automobiles owned by local parties. The loss was estimated at $15,000.

Brilliant Throng ∾ of "First Nighters" ∾ at Opera House

(Boston Evening American photos.)

BEHELD OF ALL BEHOLDEN

Mrs. Harris Livermore (seated center and her daughter, Elizabeth (left), are among the more ardent music devotees in Boston's ultra smart set. Pressing, indeed, must be the engagement which can keep them away from any musical performance of note. Naturally they were "first nighters" at the opera and will be seen in Boston's home of music many times during the fortnight's stay of the Chicago Civic Opera Company. Another whose presence was noted at the opening performance was Mrs. Chester Wardwell (right), who was the center of admiring throngs during the entre-acts of Verdi's "Aida." Mrs. Wardwell is like the Livermores an enthusiastic devotee of opera and never misses an opportunity to attend the performances of the Chicago singers.

MRS. MALCOLM W. GREENOUGH

The former Kathleen Rotch was lovely in a pale pink chiffon creation with gilt lace.

MISS VERE STEARNS

Charming member of the younger set was especially charming on Opera's first night in her rich wrap of white fur over a gown of tinsel lace.

GOWNS GLITTER ON FIRST NIGHT

Superb falls far short of describing the picture that Boston's women presented at the opening night of the opera with their gowns and dazzling gems. It was the one night in the year when millions in jewelry and rare pearls owned by Boston's elite were brought out before the public's gaze.

Among some of the fashionable first-nighters and what they wore follow:

Mrs. Henry Parkman, Jr.:
Pale green velvet with lace fichu designed with gilt sequins. A diamond pin at one shoulder. Diamond eardrops and diamond bandeau.

Mrs. William Gordon Means:
Frock of black velvet. Diamond bandeau and diamond earrings. An ornament of diamonds on one shoulder.

Mrs. Louis Curtis:
Wrap of black broadtail with seal and gown of black velvet and silver.

Mrs. Wolcott Howe Johnson:
Gown of gold lace over gold tissue; wrap of deep crimson velvet with collars and cuffs of ermine. Pearl and diamond ornaments.

Mrs. Edwin U. Curtis:
Gown of mauve velvet; wrap of purple velvet with chinchilla collar and hem. Pearl dog collar and pearl and diamond studded comb. Diamond eardrops.

Mrs. B. H. Bristow Draper:
Gown of silver crystal beads in fringe effect on white satin. Diamond and platinum ornaments, eardrops and bracelets. Fan of deep green ostrich.

Mrs. George von L. Meyer, Jr.:
Frock of rose chiffon designed in gold sequins and vari-tinted beads. Pearl and diamond necklace. Gold mesh purse studded with diamonds.

Miss Hannah Hallowell:
Gown of metal brocade in black and gold.

Mrs. Thorndike Howe:
Gown of rose and gold in Egyptian design. Pearl and coral ornaments and wrap of rose and silver metal cloth with mink bandings.

Mrs. Edward Jackson Holmes:
Diamond dog collar and diamond earrings. Gown of deep rose and gilt metal brocade cut en traine. Scarf of white tulle and fan of tinted ostrich.

Mrs. Ralph L. Flanders:
Gossamer lace over sea green satin with brilliants and sequins in the lace. Fan of plumed ostrich and pearl collar.

Miss Louise Batchelder:
Rose and gilt metal cloth with sash effect at one side.

Miss Ellen Hallowell:
Gown of oyster white chiffon with sequins in silver and pastel tints.

ELECT OF HUB GREET SINGERS

called: tiny heels, silver and golden, clicked on tessellations, then were smothered in the thick nap of carpet within, on the promenade—where all who are must walk.

EMBELLISHED

Swirling of wraps in richly flowering colors! Silken stuffs and laces; brocades from the looms of the masters! Sheen of satins, costly in their individuality and unique in drapings.

Picked as from the choicest wares of Bagdad, they were embellished by their wearers—and, in turn, embellished.

Rarely on a first night have the throngs been more brilliant in identity and in garb and decoration than that which listened in on the first performance of the Chicago Civic Opera Company in this, the current season.

Under Polacco's gifted wand they sensed the spell, once within, but while without their way was given over to fulsome laughter in the hum of the promenade.

Page after page from the Social Register; group after group that swell within the covers of the blue book, paid homage to the Italian composer whose span has been lived but whose works sing on after him.

FARRAR ATTENDS

Barring the principals, the high lights of State and City were numbered in the crowd whose attendance today is marked as a record.

And "Jerry" was there—Geraldine of the golden voice. But the Farrar of years gone by was not on the stage with her entrancements. She was in a box, a spectator among spectators—a player with still a place in the Sun, but that Sun that bathed the "bleachers."

And, as the arias swelled, beautiful Geraldine sat tense, eyes on the lighted stage in front, where Radames was betraying his country for love of the Etheopian princess.

Memory stirred in Geraldine—and about her there were memories stirred of the Farrar of yore.

REAL CRITICS

Then, she was forgotten. The play was the thing: the music that rolled now heavily, now ascending in contrast to stir with its vividness the imaginations of the listeners.

From the first row of the main auditorium, back to the rim that was the gem-studded golden horseshoe, up, up to the topmost pillars where sat real critics of music, the students and lovers—the opera thrilled, and a more overwhelming acclaim never was given an "Aida" by an audience so brilliant as that attending the first night of this season.

With "Amneris'" final wail, the wail of Cyrena Van Gordon, the spell was broken and the opera was over.

Voices hummed, then broadened with the outpouring. Again silken robes swirled, flaunting their fringes and tassels.

Tiny slippers clicked their heels once more, cars rolled up, doors clicked, the motors droned and starters called.

"Aida" was come from the West—and gone!

Verdi's 'Aida' Given Wonderful Reception by Music Lovers

By MOSES SMITH

The opening night of the two weeks' stay of the Chicago Opera Company, which for a short time transforms Boston once more into a capital of music, came and passed in the regular way, and almost everything ran true to form. The chosen opera, "Aida," has got to be almost a convention for a first night, apparently suiting everyone more than a less known work, like "Andrea Chenier," which began last year's run.

The usual thing transpired in the usual way, except that last night things went a little better than usual. A very fine cast, mustering some of the finest singers and actors in the company, gave an excellent performance of Verdi's spectacular music-drama. Last year Claudia Muzio covered herself with glory as the principal attraction. And last night, in a different role, in which she has been seen only once before in Boston, she repeated the triumph.

MUZIO IMPRESSES

Her Aida was worthy of the best characterizations she has given in Boston. As for her singing, it was good to hear her in a role much beloved of prima donnas. Unfortunately not all prima donnas can sing Aida well, but last night Mme. Muzio sang it superbly. Her gradations in tone were a delight to the ear, her pianissimos, when she almost whispered her text, were things of beauty. Her rendition of the closing scene of the opera, when she is being buried alive with her lover, will linger long in the memory.

An equally impressive performance was that of Cyrena Van Gordon, the stately contralto who was almost ideally cast as Amneris. Like Mme. Muzio, she interpreted the drama as Verdi meant it to be interpreted, with no flourishes for effect, but with torrential emotion where that was required. Her expressive voice, of marvelous range and power, was heard at its best. Once more the audience heard and saw an Amneris that was not a mere puppet, a "supporting actress" who must not transgress on the grounds of the "star." Instead Mme. Van Gordon made of the royal Amneris an equal protagonist with Aida in the drama.

Radames was entrusted last night to Charles Marshall after the originally-announced new Swedish tenor, Lindi, had been forced to withdraw on account of illness. The part is an essentially ungrateful one, for the best aria, "Celeste Aide," must be rendered while the singer is still cold, and thereafter the character merely goes through motions. In development of the characters of Aida and Amneris there is drama. But Radames remains more or less a stick of wood, dramatically.

WELL DIRECTED

There have been better performances of the part than Mr. Marshall gave it, and it would have been interesting to hear the new tenor. But Marshall's performance was at least capable and conscientious. He did not interfere with the course of the really powerful drama by posing before the audience, as many a tenor in his role loves to do.

Of the other parts, Alexander Kipnis was the King, Virgilio Lazzari the High Priest, Louise Loring, a newcomer, was the priestess, and Cesare Formichi filled in very acceptably as Amonasro. The chorus was the accustomed reliable group that the Chicago company has employed here as a rule.

And the settings, while they are now familiar, continue to impress with their beauty. The last scene, in which the stage is built on two levels, received careful planning and stage directing.

Visiting Opera Stars File Intentions at City Hall

John B. DeKeyser, widower, 45, and Olivia Ventura, 45, divorcee, both of Chicago, members of the visiting Chicago Opera Company, have filed marriage intentions at City Hall.

Also filing were Milo G. Treat, 34, reputed to be son of a Pittsburgh millionaire, of No. 1298 N. Highland avenue, and Alice J. Sprague, 23, secretary, Duxbury native, now living at No. 1191 Boylston street.

OPERA PATRONS SING PRAISES

Loud in their praise for the opening production of the Chicago Civic Opera Company were representative opera-goers today.

Universally they agreed that for freshness, vivid portrayal and beauty in music, the latest "Aida" was the best they have yet heard.

Comments by some of the opera lovers follow:

MRS. ROBERT WHITMAN MEANS—I think that last night's opera was magnificent. It is the most finished product I have ever seen. The members of the Chicago Opera Company deserve all the praise that has been heaped upon them.

MISS MARY WELD—Never have I enjoyed an opera as much as I did last night's production. The company is finished in a most delightful manner. The leads were just delightful in every way.

MRS. WILLIAM GORDON MEANS—The work of the various individuals was brilliant in every way. The Chicago Opera Company seems to improve more and more every time it appears in Boston.

MRS. WALTER M. PRATT—I enjoyed the opera so much with my husband that I am going again this evening, and I am having Mrs. Fuller, wife of the Governor, as my guest.

'DADDY' TELLS HIS 'LOVE STORY'

my wife at the dance and we danced together. She gave me her telephone number and said I could call.

Q.—How did you meet her? A.—I was introduced to her.

Q.—When did you next see her? A.—Ten days or so later.

Q.—WhWat did she tell you when you first met her? A.—She told me she was 23 years old. Then her age came down to 20. When I sent my manager to see her mother, Mrs. Heenan told him Frances was not quite 16 years old.

"Peaches" watched "Daddy" closely as he testified. Her face was expressionless.

"Daddy" said that shortly after he met "Peaches" she wanted him to get her a job.

"But," he continued, "I thought she ought to go to school, so I gave her $300 to go to a school."

Spent $300 on Clothes

Q.—Did she use the money to go to school? A.—She did not. She took the $300 and bought clothes with it.

Mack then asked Browning how old his adopted daughter, Dorothy Sunshine Browning, is.

"Ten years old," replied "Daddy."

Q.—Is she legally adopted? A.—Yes.

Te questioning then switched to the acid burning of "Peaches" who was mysteriously scarred with an acid concoction last Spring while she was sleeping in her home one morning.

"I was notified by her mother that she was burned. She called me over the telephone at my office," said Browning. "I rushed to her home. When I got there I was taken into the room. I looked at her and said 'My, she is badly burned.' So I went to a drugstore and got some medicine and cotton. When I got back Doctor Herman was there.

"I wanted to call the police, but 'Peaches' and her mother wouldn't let me. They said they wanted to keep it quiet. But later, I did go to a durgstore and I called the police."

Paid Heenan Bills

Q.—Did you have anything to do with the burning of Mrs. Browning? A.—Only to help her—that's all.

Asked what was Mrs. Heenan's circumstances shortly before he married "Peaches," Browning said Mrs. Heenan told him she was working as a nurse for $35 a week.

That's why she couldn't stay home, "Daddy" said she told him. So, he testified, he gave her $50 a week "to stay home."

The Heenans didn't have any food, they were behind on the radio and they owed rent, said Browning.

"I gave Mrs. Heenan money to pay all these bills," he added.

Browning said that when "Peaches" was burned he offered skin to be grafted on her burns, but the doctors said they couldn't use the skin. He denied that he ever threw telephone directories at "Peaches" or set off an alarm clock in her ear at midnight.

Q.—Did you on one occasion sandpaper shoe trees all night& A.—I did not. You se we can wear each other's hoses except that her pumps are a little tight over the instep, so I had to sandpaper them down to fit her shoes.

Drive Was "Too Cheap"

The questioning then shifted back to charges made by "Peaches."

"I never was drunk in my life," Browning declared, and laughed as he said "no" in answer to a question as to whether he had ever threatened to shoot "Peaches" and her mother.

"I bought fifty or sixty dresses and coats—anything she wanted, she could have," he continued, specifying expensive furs which he said he had bought for his wife.

Riverside drive was too "cheap" for "Peaches," he said, when she was looking for an apartment.

"She wanted a roadster and three dogs, but I was afraid if she had a car of her own she would have a 'spell and hurt herself," he added.

Tells About Gifts

Mrs. Elizabeth D. Farney of Evanston, Ill., first witness at the trial today, testified that during a dance at Kew Gardens Inn she heard Browning tell "Peaches" he "could dance with her all night."

On that particular occasion, the witness said, "Peaches" had been dancing with many other men.

Browning is said to be quite a Charlestoner and "Peaches" admits that she "adores" dancing.

Mrs. arney said her husband, Frank J. Farney, is a manufacturer of baby furniture.

Please Turn to Page 2, Column 1.

During August, 1926, she said, she spent much time in the company of the Brownings.

"Peaches" was very well pleased with Mr. Browning's gifts," the witness said, "particularly with a teddy bear with a music box inside it."

The African honking gander got into the testimony. In reference to the goose, Mrs. Farley said "Peaches" seemed to get a lot of enjoyment out of the gift.

"What was Mrs. Browning's attitude toward children?" witness was asked.

"She said she didn't like very young children but she did like them older," answered Mrs. Farney.

"My husband said he would furnish the nursery in case the stork visited the Brownings," the witness continued. "This was when the papers were full of stories saying a visit was expected. Mrs. Browning, however, said she didn't expect any visit and wasn't interested in such things."

Sent Him Rubber Eggs

On cross-examination, Mrs. Farney told Atty. Henry Epstein, counsel for Mrs. Browning, she and her husband had wired Browning asking if he needed them to "deny what was not true."

Frank J. Farney, husband of the witness, next took the stand.

He said he met Mrs. Browning, not through an introduction, but by "butting in" to a group. The social life of the Browning bridge-playing, auto-riding, movie-going group was described by Farney.

"Browning loved flowers and gave them to everybody until I, who could hardly afford them, kind of felt like a piker," he said.

Q.—Did Mr. Browning bring his wife flowers? A.—Why, the Browning apartment was always full of flowers.

Q.—Did you ever see Mr. Browning with rubber eggs? A.—Yes. At the inn he sent rubber eggs to me with a collapsible spoon.

Miss Emma R. Steiner, an orchestral conductor, next testified.

"For twenty-eight years," she said, "I've known Mr. Browning and his mother. Mr. Browning was always as attentive to his wife as he was to his parent. He treated his wife fine."

Attorney Epstein, taking the witness, tried to get the orchestral conductor to admit a home might appear happy without being so.

"As an orchestral conductor, handling many people," she said, "I am a very good judge of human nature."

Mrs. Norma Drupike of New York, acquaintance of Browning for several years, was next called.

Gave "Gorgeous Party"

She said the Browning couple both became members of the Victory Club, a social organization of which she is the president. A birthday party tendered "Peaches" at the club by her husband was a "gorgeous affair," the witness declared.

"Mrs. Heenan once told me Mr. Browning had a heart of gold," she added. "I thought Mr. Browning was most courteous to both his mother-in-law and his wife."

'Daddy' Ill at Ease and Red as a Lobster

By MARGERY REX

Courthouse, White Plains, N. Y., Feb. 1.—"Daddy" ambles to the witness stand. Life's greatest moment.

Edward West Browning's face is as red as a lobster. He pokes a fat finger inside his collar and runs it around his neck.

"I do," he replies sadly when asked if he remembers when he first met Peaches.

Whom does "Daddy" think he is—at a "wake"—or what? His hushed funeral tones as he says he's 52, and tells how "Peaches" phoned him after their first meeting, to suggest, he thinks that cupid lies a-dying right on the courtroom floor.

"Three hundred dollars. That's the utility sum "Daddy" handed "Ma" and "Peaches." Some references to "Peaches" wanting to go to finishing school, to acquire a high polish. Never mind. "Daddy" claims when "Peaches" left him she took everything but the varnish off the floors, so, maybe, she felt she could manage without any school shellac.

"Daddy" thinks a girl needs an education, so, as in the case of another famous blonde, the mental training consisted of a tour through the expensive shops.

Money Does It

The big love 'em man from Sherman square knows that a $50 hat stimulates the brain under it more than 50 courses in psychology. So his pupils graduate from Fifth avenue.

"Peaches" gets a nasty look from Daddy. She wouldn't be surprised if he gave her the nasty look on her chin, either.

"Ma" Heenan fingers the flowered velvet lining of Peaches' sable coat.

"Daddy" tells now how he got taken for a wedding ring.

"They said it would kill them if Peaches went to an institution as she feared—being separated from her mother——" and so on, Peaches wept.

And so they got married.

If "Daddy" could take his collar off he'd feel better. His face is a royal purple now.

Vehement denials of frightening Peaches on their wedding night.

"Daddy" has a peevish voice with a lisp. His chins are working nervously. "Peaches" didn't want children, her blusring 52-year-old exmate asserts.

"Daddy" laughingly denies crawling on the floor, or throwing phone books at Peaches. Not bad looking when he smiles.

"Daddy's" chatting along, chewing off each word. Sounds as if he were talking to himself.

What a life.

Behaved Well

Daddy brought hot water bags, newspapers and coffee to Peaches and behaved soberly and respectably, he claims.

"Don't try to impeach Peaches," Epstein warns.

Peaches calmly regards her husband. "I am young and beautiful" he glance seems to say, "and you are old, father William—and how?"

Mrs. Heenan cries as Browning said he hoped his mother-in-law would abandon him.

"Strike out that answer," rules Judge Seeger.

"I didn't mean that," "Daddy" is contrite. "I wanted just one day alone, I didn't mind if she came back."

Browning was lovely to his mother, this charming woman relates and was also attentive at dances to the elderly as well as the young women. She insists Peaches' "position as a wife was enviable"—with a little sigh over it all.

"What is the victory club," Judge Macks asks a witness who mentioned "Daddy's" activities in this outfit.

Wait till the case is over. Some one may say that the Victory Club means the allimony club.

JAILED AS BOOTLEGGER WITH $951 BANKBOOK

A drive on sidewalk bootleggers who sell "off the hip" landed Arthur Percy Leonard of the South End before Judge James M. Devlin today. In addition to a fine of $100 and six months in the jail a suspended sentenced was revoked and Leonard got an additional month.

He was arrested in Shawmut avenue by Lieut. Daniel Hines, who charged that Thompson sold a pint of stuff for a dollar. In the prisoner's pocket was a bankbook showing deposits of $951.

"MIDNIGHT FOLLIES" STAR IS WON BY ENGLISH LORD

London, Feb. 1 (A.P.)—Another young English nobleman, Lord Ashley, 20, heir of the Earl of Shaftsbury, has yielded to the charms of a theatrical star, the Evening Standard says today. The bride-to-be is Miss Sylvia Hawkes, who recently appeared in "The Whole Town's Talking" and the "Midnight Follies." The couple will be married this week.

The only "B" battery of its kind and the best of them all

EVEREADY Layerbilt "B" Battery No. 486 is built up solidly, layer on layer of current-producing materials. Every available inch inside the battery is occupied by active materials with no waste spaces as occur between the round cells used in all other dry "B" batteries.

All loud-speaker sets require Heavy-Duty "B" batteries because they last twice as long as the smaller Light-Duty batteries, and yet do not cost anything like twice as much. The Eveready Layerbilt has proved over and over to be the longest-lasting and most economical Heavy-Duty "B" battery.

THREE INJURED IN DEDHAM EXPLOSION

One man is dying and another is in a serious condition in Norwood Hospital as a result of an explosion of the gasoline tank on an automobile truck on which they were working in Dedham early today. A third man escaped with minor burns.

William J. Lovett, 33, of No. 419 Smith street, Providence, was turned into a human torch as the flaming gasoline showered over him. He is reported in a dying condition.

John J. Finneran of Felix street, Providence, escaped with slight burns from the shower of gasoline but was badly burned when he went to the rescue of Lovett. He was also taken to the hospital.

William Walker, of Danforth street, Providence, received minor burns on the hands attempting to save Lovett.

TANK EXPLODES.

Finneran and Lovett are chauffeurs employed by the W. F. Culton Trucking Company of Providence and each was piloting a five-ton truck from Boston to Providence at the time of the accident. Finneran's truck became disabled in Washington street, near the Westwood line. Lovett stopped his truck to aid

The trouble was traced to a clogged gasoline pipe and the drivers, with Walker, who was Finneran's helper, were at work on the pipe when, without warning, the entire tank blew up with a deafening roar.

In an instant Lovett was a human torch. All three were thrown back several feet by the force of the explosion. Finneran and Walker rushed to Lovett's side and tore the flaming clothing from him, but not in time to save his head, face and body from being frightfully seared

At this juncture John Cotter and Owen Norton of Norwood arrived in an automobile. Seizing robes, they threw them about Lovett and, with other robes, partly smothered the fire on the truck.

Cotter and Norton bundled Lovett and Finneran into their machine and raced them to the Norwood hospital

15,000 Prisoners Are Freed to Pay Cost of Greeting Prince

London, Feb. 1 (A.P.)—How a State can meet the cost of entertaining a royal guest is shown by the South African government.

Statistics quoted by the Daily Mail's Cape Town correspondent show that South Africa spent about $125,000 in connection with the visit of the Prince of Wales in 1925, but saved $205,000 by releasing 15,000 prisoners in honor of the occasion.

BACK COOLIDGE MEXICO POLICY

Washington, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—By a vote of 9 to 5 the House foreign affairs committee voted today to report the Fairchild resolution, affirming the position taken by President Coolidge in the Nicaraguan-Mexican situation.

The vote was on party lines, except that Representative Connaly, Democrat, Texas, joined with eight Republicans in the affirmative. He said he was opposed to the resolution and voted as he did because it would enable him to move to reconsider.

He then made a motion that the vote be reconsidered and the committee became involved in a discussion over the rules.

The Fairchild resolution would place the House on record as expressing "its full concurrence" with the President's position.

22 Rebels Executed for Massacre of Troops

Mexico City, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Twenty-seven rebels have been executed by the military authorities in Oaxaca City for the massacre of a Federal column in San Miguel el Grande on Jan. 12.

The inhabitants of San Miguel revolted and prepared to defend the town against Federals sent from Oaxaca. When the Federals rushed the barricade, however, the rebels hoisted a white flag, declaring there had been a mistake and that they were fervent supporters of the government.

The soldiers later were attacked while at rest, forty being butchered. A lone survivor communicated with Oaxaca and a strong column was sent to San Miguel.

Thirty-two ringleaders were taken to Oaxaca and court-martialed. Five were spared because of their ages, four being over 60 and one under 20. The others were executed.

SHEPARD FOLK TO DANCE

The fourth annual costume party and dance under the auspices of the Shepard Store Mutual Association, takes place tomorrow night at the Tent Ballroom on Huntington avenue. It is expected nearly 1,000 associates of this Boston store and their friends will attend.

Edward Fitzgerald, chairman of the dance committee, announced recently that cash prizes totalling $35 have been donated by Mr. Shepard to be awarded to the five associates of the store who appear in the best costumes. John Shepard, 3rd, vice-president of the store, heads the judges for costumes and he is assisted by John R. Swinney, assistant to the president, Beatty Stevens, sales manager, George B. Darling, personal manager, Joseph Boyle, superintendent, and E. C. Farrington, merchandise manager.

The general dance committee includes: Frank Meehan, president of the Mutual Aid; Mary C. Uniack, chairman of the ticket committee; Catherine Donovan, Winfield Knowles and George B. Darling. The floor committee includes Frank O'Connor, Charles Ramsdell, Edward McNamara, William Madden, John Veator, John Mitchell, Joseph Lopez, James Hodges and James Reardon.

Women prominent in store activities are acting as patronesses of the party. Among them are: Jean Sargent, Barbara West, Anna McMahon, Ann Reardon, Elizabeth Fraizer, Barbara McLellan, Evelyn Chittick, Lowella Sias, Georgia Driscoll, Helen Bennett, Anna Foster, Elizabeth Leavitt and Ann Condran.

GAIN BY TRUTH IN ADVERTISING, SAYS FILENE

Chicago, Feb. 1.—Realization that big advertising that tells the truth and helps the customer to choose wisely is not uneconomic, is not a waste, but is a real service to progress, will help producers to greatly increase their profits, declared Edward A. Filene of Boston speaking here today.

The president of William Filene's Sons Company, Boston department store, addressed the Interstate Merchants' Council convention on the subject, "What Is Happening to Retailers, Wholesalers and Producers—the Way Out."

Outlining an unique plan of organization, he declared that the way for individual retail store owners to compete successfully with the chain store systems is to combine among themselves and with producers, without sacrificing their own individuality.

MORE CHAIN STORES

He warned that such action must be taken soon because more chain store systems are appearing each year. He explained, incidentally, his pioneer view of the organization of department stores in the future when each department will be one link in a chain of departments handling the same article in other large stores throughout the country

"If producers of all kinds of goods which can be sold in mass quantities will adopt the principles that underlie production of the Chevrolet, the Ford and numerous other products they will greatly increase the size of their business and their profits," he said.

"By these principles I mean the principle of the best quality for the lowest price, the principle that the right to profit begins only with service to the customer, the principle that nothing but practical scientific production can compete successfully in the future.

RETAILER'S ADVANTAGE.

"And I feel sure that the individual retailer has advantages which will make him conquer against all chain store competition, if he be organized effectively to do so.

"The small stores must unite for their own advantage. They can do this by forming chains themselves, retaining their individual ownership

"It should really be more effective than chain store organization for individual ownership, combined with centralized organization, will bring to the individual store advantages the chain store unit does not possess—personal interest of the owner."

TECH HELPS TAB N. E. INDUSTRY

With Technology's new division of municipal and industrial research co-operating, the New England council has begun the first of a series of industrial surveys and community planning, to meet requirements of a community's industrial and social growth, the council announced today.

Technology has also offered to co-operate with the council's research committee in making available its other research facilities to New England industries. The institute is prepared to undertake research work for New England business in virtually all branches of engineering and the pure sciences, and is one of the first New England educational institutions to offer to co-operate with the council in its effort to promote the use of research in industries and communities.

Herbert F. Sherwood, manager of the Fall River Chamber of Commerce, and George F. Wells, secretary of the New Bedford Board of Commerce, have been appointed Massachusetts representatives on a committee of commercial organization executives co-operating with the New England Council.

The committee was named by the New England Association of Commercial Executives, of which Mr. Sherwood is president. Its functions will be to advise and assist the council on matters pertaining to community development, particularly as it relates to chambers of commerce.

Winter Months are Danger Months!

The Time of Year Good Physical Condition Counts Most

STATISTICS show February and March are the months of greatest sickness. Winter's colds, chills and sudden changes, indoor life and lack of fresh air and exercise, place heavier burdens on our eliminative organs. Too often sluggishness of function results.

It is the duty of the kidneys to keep the blood stream free from the poisons of bodily waste. Retention of this toxic waste is apt to make one listless, tired and achy. A dull, toxic backache is often a symptom, with drowsy headaches and dizziness. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions.

If you have reason to believe your kidneys are acting sluggishly, assist them with a tested diuretic*. Millions have used Doan's Pills. They are endorsed the country over. Ask your neighbor!

Diuretics are agents which increase the secretion of the kidneys — Encyclopaedia definition.*

WIFE WON'T DIVORCE ARCHITECT WRIGHT

San Francisco Feb. 1 (A.P.).—The Examiner says Mrs Marion Noel Wright, wife of Frank Lloyd Wright, nationally known architect refused to let her husband have a divorce. Mrs. Wright has been here since December, about the time that her husband's relations with Olga Milanoff, Montenegrin dancer, were attracting attention. "My husband wants a divorce," Mrs Wright said, "but I'll never give it to him. Since we separated he is supposed to give me $125 a month for maintenance but since last June he has given me only $255."

The Gift of a Smooth Skin

France developed this famous method of making fine toilet soap ··

PARIS—where women of every land find loveliness! Slender throats and satin cheeks, as creamy smooth as the drifting petals from the chestnut blossoms in the Bois. Shoulders and arms like white chiffon velvet in the candle-lit gaiety of chateau and petit cafe. Fine textured, exquisite hands from many nations buying flowers on the steps of the Madeleine.

For France has given to the world the gift of smooth skin!

Satisfied only with perfection, she knows the skin itself must be exquisite, or all her skillful powders and perfumes lose their magic. For hundreds of years other nations have looked to France for fine toilet soaps. Imported—expensive—demanded. Made by the same famous method that today makes Lux Toilet Soap.

There is prophecy in the fine textured, creamy smoothness of this cake! So firm, so lasting, delicately fragrant. The caressing, bubbling lather delights your skin, tending it the true French way. Soft, instant lather—hard water on the Continent taught the French the secret that Lux Toilet Soap, too, knows.

Lux Toilet Soap gives you that same delicious luxurious feeling you so adored after costly French soaps! You do feel more exquisite. Absurd—yes, but it's true, otherwise you would never have paid fifty cents or a dollar for a tiny cake of French soap.

With her genius for achievement America puts this savon de toilette within the reach of all the family! Women asked for it, "Please a soap as wonderful as French soap, but not so costly."

Today Lux Toilet Soap takes its place proudly in any bathroom. It is just ten cents! The moment you touch that firm, generous cake you know that you have savon de toilette for all the family. Oh the delight of having an exquisite soap that you can gaily use all the time—with never a qualm of conscience lest you are extravagant. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Instantly it captivated American women

Chaplin's Love for Art Led to Rift

love, and you are the only woman who has fulfilled my ideals."

What girl would not listen to such words and feel that her dreams were coming true?

As I knew him better, even before we were married, I came to know how lonely his life had been. It seemed strange to think of him as lonely; a man who, through his pictures, had established a common bond of understanding with millions of people of every race and degree.

But in those long talks before we were married, in the days when we were trying to persuade my mother to let us carry out our plans, Charlie Chaplin made me see that something was missing in his life.

It was not that he ever talked much about his actual experiences. Even as his wife, I knew little of his early years.

He seemed to want to leave all that in the past, all the early poverty and struggles, all the life that had been his before he found success in his chosen field.

Note by editor: Mildred Harris was asked to tell all that she knew of the childhood and early life of her husband. It has always been shrouded in some mystery.

She answered that her own information on that subject was meagre because Mr. Chaplin very seldom spoke of his early life or childhood. His intimate friends knew his birthday, April 16, 1889, but some of his friends believed that he was born in London, others had heard that he was born in Paris of English parents. His father was Charles Spencer Chaplin, an English actor and singer of capability, but not brilliant.

His mother, Hanna Chaplin, was also on the stage and sang minor parts in Gilbert and Sullivan operas in England. Later she appeared in concert halls with her husband, and while they were in vaudeville Charlie Chaplin was born.

Charlie's first appearance on the stage was as an infant in his mother's arms when he was two or three years old. His father died when he was four. His mother continued to earn her living at a modest salary in vaudeville.

The boy went to the public schools but when he was fourteen or [illegible] years old was forced to leave school and seek employment. For a time he was the "[illegible] boy" in a small London barber shop in Cheapside or a similar district. He took charge of the shaving cups of customers.

But he had talent as a mimic and [illegible] appeared on the speaking stage with a troupe of juvenile [illegible] called "The Eight Lancashire Lads." While still in his [illegible] he played in music halls in [illegible] and in the provinces as [illegible] Fred Karno's comedians.

The [illegible] of the first piece in which [illegible] a speaking part was "A [illegible] in a London Music Hall." He earned only four pounds ($20) a week. His part was a [illegible] one.

But his talent for humor and pathos won some recognition. He was one of the English vaudeville actors engaged in London to appear at Hammerstein's Victoria Theatre, New York, in 1910. The company toured the principal cities. Chaplin's pay was $20 a week in England and $50 in the United States.

Actually, strange as it may seem, almost all I know of Charlie's early life is what I have read or what other people have told me.

We spent a week's honeymoon at Catalina, having no time for a longer trip, as we were both working on pictures. Our honeymoon was a happy time. Charlie was still the wooer. We were happy just to be together.

I knew that he was an artist, and I knew something of the intense nature of the artistic mind. I realized that his work meant the world to him, but I did not realize that it meant all the world.

There were times, even during the honeymoon, when he would sink into an easy chair and sit there, staring into vacancy. I knew that his active mind was at work, endlessly revolving the problems of the studio.

When we returned and he went back to work, these periods of utter blankness became more frequent. He would come home after a long day at the studio and surround himself with a cloak of silence, staring into the fire or straight ahead of him. Sometimes I would try to make conversation. I would say:

"Charlie, did you have a hard day at the studio?"

Or I would ask about his new leading woman or his new story anything to show that I was interested, as I really was.

It was like talking to a brick wall. He didn't know I was there.

Tomorrow Mildred Harris will tell how she kept house as the young bride of Charlie Chaplin and of his strange moods.

THE CORNERSTONE OF Life Insurance

IN 1843, when The Mutual Life—the oldest life insurance company in America—began business, the cornerstone of life insurance protection in America was laid.

For 84 years, the Mutual Life has not only kept pace with progress, but also has maintained a reputation for leadership by originating and introducing features in Mutual Life policies which have been adopted by many other companies.

Time has only served to increase the financial strength and prestige of this, the oldest company. Through the wars, epidemics, hard times and panics of eight decades, The Mutual Life has stood every test. Today, it holds more than seven hundred and ninety-eight million dollars for the protection and benefit of its policyholders. It has paid to policyholders and beneficiaries more than

An Amazing Love Story of a Misunderstood Hub Working Girl

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Gay Moore and Christine Noe, her cousin, are employed in the State Street house of Johnstone Baird, Gay as a typist and Christine as telephone operator. Christine is in love with Roger Pennington and Gay is in love with Stanley Baird, Johnstone Baird's son. Christine runs around with Ivor Barclay in order to arouse Penny's jealousy. Stan's family disown him when he marries Gay. They happily start housekeeping. Stan obtains a position as an automobile mechanic. Christine marries Penny. They go to Europe for their honeymoon. Christine is jealous of Peggy Baird, Stan's sister, and Gay feels that Stanley has too much interest in Mimi Brooks, a girl of his own Back Bay set. Christine and Gay go to tea at a fashionable hotel, where they are met by Ivor Barclay. Stanley tells Gay that he has completed an invention which will mean they can move from their shabby apartment and have a real home. After midnight Penny telephones to ask Gay if she knows where Christine is. Gay does not tell him of meeting Barclay, but assures Penny that Christine must be all right. She asks him to come up and see them, and he promises.

"Guilty" ∾ A Surprise ∾ By Jean McDonough

THE CAB DREW UP BEFORE the station. Charles hurried me into the crowded terminal. I stopped suddenly and grasped him by the coat. "You've got to tell me exactly where I'm going," I demanded, "or I won't move another step." "Doris, please don't argue now," he said, "we have only a few minutes to make our train. When we get to our seats I'll tell you where I am going, and why you are coming with me." Without giving me time to protest further, Charles took me by the arm and rushed me aboard the train.

WHEN WE HAD FOUND SEATS I leaned over and took Charles by the hand. "Please tell me what this is all about," I begged. I was frightened now, even though I felt I could trust him. The guard shouted "All aboard." Charles waited for the train to start before he began to speak. "All right Doris, I can tell you now. You are coming to the State House with me, and after we have transacted our business there, you may, if you so desire, become the wife of Charles Edwards as we had planned before the death of your father.

"DORIS," HE CONTINUED, "lets not be strangers anymore. I have a surprise for you—I'll tell you about it later, but first I want you to promise that you will marry me." "We'll see about that later," I said, "just now I want you to explain the reason for all this hurry and mystery." I really wasn't as angry [illegible] made him think I was. I liked him more for the masterful way he had handled the situation—the way he had succeeded in getting me to come with him without even telling me where I was going.

CHARLES FINALLY ANNOUNCED, "I have found the man who murdered your father. He is dead. But I have his signed confession here to prove that he is the guilty man." A picture of Davis behind the bars flashed into my mind. If Charles were telling the truth, Davis was [illegible] my [illegible] to see [illegible] he was released. "If you listen I'll tell you the whole story," Charles said. (Continued tomorrow.)

Punch From Dempsey Started Maloney on His Ring Career

This is the first of a series of ten articles by Jim Maloney, [illegible] South Boston heavyweight, who will battle Jack De[illegible] Madison Square Garden, New York, on February 18 [illegible]

[illegible] to my feet and Dempsey grabbed me. "Come [illegible] Jack Kearns [illegible]

[illegible] better than I thought you.

Then Dempsey came up and shook hands. "You've got the makings of a good fighter," the champion declared. "Keep at it and some day I may be defending my title against you."

I realize now that Dempsey was only making me feel good, but at the time I was convinced that Jack really thought that I had the goods. Anyway I began to dream about becoming heavyweight champion of the world some day. Who knows? That dream of long ago may come true after [illegible]

RING SUCCESS SEEMS LIKE DREAM

And [illegible] all seems like a dream to me now. It is hard for me to realize that I am one of the four or five outstanding contenders for the heavyweight title. [illegible]

[illegible]

In [illegible] Boston American [illegible] to tell the [illegible] South Boston [illegible]

All great fighters, whether in the ring or on the outside, have had their troubles in getting to the top. I have had mine in getting near the top and if the will and the confidence to go on means anything, I'll be in there fighting Gene Tunney for the world's heavyweight championship next September.

In telling any story one has to start somewhere. I guess I'll start with my [illegible]. I don't remember the occasion, but my father tells me I was born [illegible]. And he also tells me that the place of my birth was [illegible].

M[illegible] O'Brien, Mike [illegible], Eddie Murphy, [illegible] Downes, Johnny Donovan, Hambone Kelly and many other good fighters have [illegible] so you see I had something in my favor at the start.

I [illegible] first class break in being born an Irishman. [illegible]

My parents christened me Edward James. Until I started boxing under the [illegible] Dan [illegible] my friends called me [illegible]. A few of the boys [illegible] Ed, but most [illegible] Jim. I've almost forgotten the Edward [illegible].

PARENTS CAME FROM TIPPERARY

[illegible] mother and father came from Tipperary [illegible] reminds me of an [illegible] fight with Tony Stabenau at [illegible]. S[illegible] the Western heavyweight. When I [illegible] ring with Stabenau I noticed that the referee was an Irishman [illegible].

[illegible] came rushing at me. I let my right go, nailed To[illegible] and knocked him cold. The Irish referee was [illegible] but he managed to reach 10. Then he rushed over to [illegible]

"Be [illegible]" yelled the Irish referee. "And what part of the old country [illegible] from?"

I [illegible] what part of Ireland my parents came from and he knew [illegible] I had ever seen. Still Dan didn't hesitate and answered [illegible]

[illegible] the excited referee. "I come from there myself."

And with that he was over shaking hands with me at the same time telling me that [illegible] a Galway man.

I wasn't sure what it was all about, but I told him he was right anyway.

(In tomorrow's article, Maloney tells of his boyhood days in South Boston and his start as a boxer).

St. Pats Make Final Appearance at Arena

TORONTO St. Patricks, already twice victorious over the Bruins, make their last appearance of the season on Arena ice tonight when they attempt to make it three straight over the Rossmen. The Bruins are in excellent trim for the fierce battle that the background of the series between the teams promises.

Boston this season has had more trouble against St. Pats than any team in the league. St. Pats have had an Indian sign on the Bruins. The Boston players have beaten every other team in the league at least once, but St. Patricks have beaten them twice.

Bill Carson has been the individual who wrecked Boston's chances in the other games between the two. The young star, just out of the amateur ranks, has scored four goals against the Bruins three. Between him and Ross Roach, the Toronto goaler, they have managed to beat the Bruins.

Frank Frederickson, Boston's fair-haired boy these days so far as National League hockey is concerned, will be matching his veteran skill and cunning against Carson during most of the evening. Frederickson is as fast as the light Toronto center, as clever a stickhandler, and the game probably will hinge on the work of these opponents.

The Bruins will start Percy Galbraith, Frederickson and Harry Oliver in the forward line, with Eddie Shore and Lionel Hitchman on defense.

Hal Winkler will be in goal. Bill Coutu, spare Boston defense man has not been sold to St. Pats as advertised from Toronto, but will continue to wear a Boston uniform and see service tonight. The Bruins after their game tonight rest until Saturday, when they play the St. Pats in Toronto.

The game will be watched by another capacity crowd, for the fifth time in the last six games. The Boston fans want to see the Bruins give the St. Pats a good threshing. They have their work cut out to do that.

There was nobody who would take up the famous gladiator's bet.

Hornsby's Turn
Breadon in Wrong
Trade May Flop

C. Clapp Orates
A Great Speech
Didn't Mean Thing

NOW ROGERS HAS HIS INNINGS

ROGERS HORNSBY seems to be in a very good spot to make Owner Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals eat crow and humble pie, and a few more unpleasant morsels. Rogers was canned by Sam, because he, Rogers, would not agree to lay off the ponies during the baseball season. Owner Sam was afraid that a new scandal might pop up

Nick Flatley

He pulled one of baseball's most startling ... by trading his manager to the Giants after said manager had won a pennant and a world series for dear old St. Louis, which up to the exciting time, had never enjoyed such a blessing. While the boys from the bleachers were getting ready to carve Rogers' pan on the facade of City Hall Owner Sam gave him the ...

Now Sam may have to take him back. Hornsby owns a lot of stock in the Cardinal club, and Breadon does not want to buy it at the price his one-time hireling quotes. The stock is worth it, to all intents and purposes, but no deal could be fixed up.

It is patently impossible for a big stockholder in the St Louis club to play baseball with the New York club. It would be very embarrassing for the stockholder, for instance, if the New York and the St. Louis teams were fighting it out for the pennant as it seems quite likely they will

Rogers might come to bat in the "croocial" game, with two men on bases and the score tied. A hit would win for the Giants and correspondingly wreck the Cardinals. Rogers would have to figure which would mean the most, his share of dividends if St. Louis got into the series, or his player's end if the Giants won

While he was doping all that out, the pitcher might throw the ball by him or something. And he would be in hot water whatever happened. If Rog doesn't sell his stock, he will have to go back to the Cards. Then Breadon will be forced to pay the salary he said was preposterous. And Manager O'Farrell will have his own former boss under him, which would also be slightly off

It's an interesting situation, which will probably be solved when Breadon is forced to dig up enough money to meet the Hornsby request. That will make him wish he hadn't traded his boy hero

ACCORDING TO YOUNG BRADEN, THE YALE NOSE KNOWS ALL ABOUT DIRTY FOOTBALL.

IT WAS A GREAT SPEECH, ANYHOW

CHARLIE CLAPP, chubby and genial president of the Canadian-American Hockey League, is a firm believer in clean sport. He waxes wroth when his athletes start getting rough. He was greatly stirred up when Jack Gagnon creased Ag Smith on the forehead the other night, to the extent of half a dozen stitches.

He called the offender into his office and bawled him out fervently Charlie had his heart in his work and reached great heights of oratory. The blush of shame could be seen on the cheeks of the listeners, so sincere and searching was the lecture.

Monsieur Gagnon nodded his head every now and then. Finally Charlie came to his peroration and announced that all would be forgiven, but that it must not happen again. The player went out.

"That was stiff talk," remarked Charlie, "but it will do the boy a lot of good."

"It certainly would," submitted one of the gang, "if it weren't for the fact that he doesn't understand a single word of English."

It took several to bring Charlie back.

Speaker and Cobb are a couple of wrecks,
But they'll keep right on drawing big monthly checks.

SOME score of promising high school athletes from this sector will go to Fordham next Fall. Which shows what tax and victory mean in football.

P.A. makes good with pipe-particular men

THE more you demand of a pipe-tobacco, the more you will enjoy this prime favorite of experienced jimmy-pipers. Prince Albert commands a pipe to stand and deliver. Briar or corncob. Calabash or meerschaum. It doesn't matter. The tobacco's the thing!

Fling back the hinged lid on a tidy red tin of P. A. Breathe deeply of that rich, rare aroma, promise of a wonderful taste to come. Tamp a load flush with the brim and light up. Now you have it . . . that taste . . . that class-by-itself taste of Prince Albert!

Cool as Pike's Peak. Sweet and fragrant as a breeze through a greenhouse. Fragrant and mild . . . a mildness that lets you smoke pipe-load after pipe-load, with never a tongue-bite or a throat-parch. Yet with that full, rich body which you demand in a smoke.

Considered from any angle, Prince Albert is jimmy-pipe joy of the highest degree. Smoke it fast or smoke it slow. Smoke it after breakfast, right up to bedtime. It is always delightful, always friendly. If you don't know P. A., you don't know what your pipe can bring you.

Film . . . what it is
The enemy of teeth and gums

You will notice a film on your child's teeth. That's a frequent danger sign—an invitation to tooth and gum troubles. The same stubborn film that you can feel by running your tongue across your own teeth.

Mere brushing won't do. You must combat it. Ordinary dentifrices fail to fight that film successfully.

Film is the greatest enemy of tooth health. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs breed in it and imperil both teeth and gums. The acid that leads to early decay forms. Old-type methods failed to combat it. So men of science engaged themselves in discovering an effective combatant—one new and different from any known.

It removes that film
And Firms the Gums

Now in Pepsodent, two [illegible] combatants are embodied—combatants approved by highest dental authority. It curdles the film, gently removes it, then firms the gums. It leaves the teeth whiter, brighter, sparkling. It is the [illegible] scientific method [illegible] tooth protection. Insist upon it. Get a tube today at your druggist's. Or mail the coupon.

Heals Eczema In 7 Days or Less

Or Your Money Back

Here is a surgeon's wonderful prescription now dispensed by pharmasists at trifling cost, that will do more towards helping you get rid of unsightly spots and skin diseases than anything you've ever used.

Not only does this great healing antiseptic oil promote rapid and healthy healing in open sores and wounds; but boils, abscesses and ulcers that are discharging are almost immediately relieved and cleanly healed.

In skin diseases its action is little less than magical. The itching of eczema is instantly stopped; the eruptions dry up and scale off in a very few days. The same is true of barbers' itch, salt rheum and other irritating and unsightly skin troubles.

You can obtain Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottle at any modern drug store. It is safe to use, and failure in any of the ailments noted above is next to impossible. All druggists can supply you at any time.

THE SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON

By HELEN ROWLAND

VANITY of vanities, saith the Cynic, all is vanity!

What profit hath a man of all the gifts he hath given, all the follies he had repented, and all the women he hath kissed?

Lo, they that are without appetite mourn their loss and cannot eat; and they that are full of appetite fear their GAIN, and will not eat. And the dieters and the gluttons are, alike, a weariness to the spirit!

The new dances come and the old dances pass away. But the feet of the damsels are never weary, and the next-morning headache is always the same!

One gentleman preferreth blondes and another prefereth brunettes; but in the end all women are henna or peroxide, and there is no difference IN them!

The restaurants are full of gayety, and their viands are in many tongues upon the menu. But, in the mouth, roast veal always is corned-beef and cabbage; and a perfectly mashed potato—who can find one?

Behold, one restaurant closeth and another openeth; but the wall-table is always beneath the draughty window or beside the radiator.

FOR Acid Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentation in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.

MEDBURY SAYS---BY J. P. MEDBURY

SIDNEY S. LENZ, the world's greatest authority on bridge, has just published a new book. In addition to explaining the game he has suggested several ways of torturing the man who trumps his partner's ace.

IT'S optional whether you kill him outright or murder him on the installment plan.

WHEN you're playing for a dollar a point, a man has a right to shoot his partner in self-defense.

ANY bridge playing jury is bound to bring in a verdict of justifiable homicide.

INSTEAD of manslaughter, Lenz wants it changed to a misdemeanor.

IN New York, any man who trumps his partner's high card four times in succession can be sent to the penitentiary for life under the Baumes law.

WHILE there are thousands of bridge players in this country, half of them don't even make good dummies.

ONE fellow claimed he couldn't help being unlucky because he always had to play with thirteen cards.

MORRIS SCHNEIDER, the Brooklyn bridge expert, wants to play Mr. Lenz for a hundred dollars a point. The tournament will be held in the poor house so that they can leave Schneider there.

HE'S only been playing the game for a few months. You can tell it by the scars on him.

HE plays rapidly, but he doesn't duck fast enough.

HE finally had to take up solitaire for self-protection.

BUT even then he played so poorly that he used to hit himself in the nose.

THE trouble with most beginners is that they hate to part with a high card. One fellow used to hold his kings so long that they became antiques.

OUT of the thousands of people who go around town saying they're good players, ninety per cent. of them could be arrested for perjury.

To Those Who Suffer Stomach Distress, Gas and Indigestion

All Druggists Make This Offer

Money Back If One Bott'e of Dare's Mentha Pepsin Doesn't Do You More Good Than Anything You Ever Used.

The way has been found to combine Pepsin with other corrective stomach agents so that it will do the most good in the shortest possible time.

Why bother with slow actors, since one tablespoonful of this splendid and pleasant liquid remedy usually causes gas, bloating, heaviness, heartburn or that upset condition of the stomach, when due to excesses or faulty elimination to speedily vanish.

And why should any man or woman suffer another hour with indigestion or annoying stomach misery from such causes when the remedy that acts almost instantly can be easily procured?

But there is more to say about this remarkable remedy—something that will interest thousands of despondent people.

Dare's Mentha Pepsin not only quickly relieves stomach distress of this sort, but is compounded to conquer stubborn indigestion or dyspepsia and put an end to dizziness, nervousness, headache, sleeplessness and despondency, when these distressing troubles are caused by stomach disturbance of the kind mentioned.

Dare's Mentha Pepsin is pleasant to take, has a delightfully refreshing taste and after it has helped to put your stomach in a clean and healthy condition, just notice how much better you look and feel, for besides correcting stomach disorders caused by excesses or faulty elimination this supremely good remedy that druggists everywhere guarantee is a fine upbuilding elixir that causes you to work with vim, eat with relish and sleep soundly.

Protect Them From Colds

A SNEEZE—a chill—or a cough—that's a danger sign to heed!

Give Hot Lemonade—an old-fashioned remedy which thousands of mothers still find to be the most effective way known to end a cold.

Serve piping hot—after a warm bath. Then bundle your little one into bed. Pin the covers down so turning won't admit chilling air.

In the morning, nine times out of ten, you'll find the cold gone. Prevent possible pneumonia or "flu" in this simplest, surest, safest way. Save days, even weeks of sickness, and the worry that they cause.

Lemons, though known as "acid fruit," have an alkaline reaction in the blood. Colds are a sign of acidity. You need lemons to offset it.

Just squeeze the juice of one California Lemon in a cup of hot water—add honey if you wish.

Always keep California Lemons on hand. You'll find them the juicy, tart, and practically seedless kind—best for Hot Lemonade.

$95,000,000
Missouri Pacific Railroad Company
First and Refunding Mortgage 5% Gold Bonds, Series "F"
Due March 1, 1977.

Coupon bonds in denominations of $1,000 and $500 registerable as to principal and exchangeable for fully registered bonds. Registered and coupon bonds interchangeable under conditions provided in the mortgage. Interest payable March 1 and September 1.

The bonds of this series will be redeemable at the option of the Company, as a whole or in part, upon ninety days' previous notice on any interest date on and after March 1, 1932, and on or before March 1, 1972 at 102% and accrued interest, and thereafter at their principal amount and accrued interest, plus a premium of ½% for each six months between the redemption date and the date of maturity.

The issuance and sale of these Bonds are subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

For further information regarding the Company and this issue of Bonds, reference is made to a letter dated January 31, 1927, from William H. Williams, Esq., Chairman of the Board of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company, copies of which may be obtained from the undersigned, and from which the following is quoted:

"The purpose of this issue is to provide the Company with the necessary funds

(1) for the redemption of its outstanding $49,101,500 principal amount First and Refunding Mortgage 6% Bonds, for the redemption of $8,229,760 of its 6% Notes issued to the United States Government and for the payment of its $12,000,000 5% Secured Notes maturing on July 1, 1927, a total of $69,331,260 principal amount of obligations to be refunded; and

(2) to reimburse the treasury of the Company for capital expenditures heretofore made, to provide for the Company's improvement program for 1927, including the purchase of equipment, and for other corporate purposes.

Of said First and Refunding Mortgage 6% Bonds, $25,000,000 Series "E" will be called for redemption on May 1, 1927, and $24,101,500 Series "D" on August 1, 1927. By the refunding of its outstanding 6% Bonds and Notes by the issuance of 5% Bonds, the Company will materially reduce its annual interest charges.

The First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds are secured by a first lien on 3,383 miles of railroad of the Company together with valuable terminal properties, depots and bridges, and, subject to $125,175,500 principal amount of prior liens on various parts of the System, for the retirement of which First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds are reserved, on the remaining 3,351 miles of the directly owned lines of the Company and the appurtenances thereof, a total of 6,734 miles of railroad. They are in addition secured, subject to certain of said prior liens and in respect to part of the equipment subject also to outstanding equipment trust certificates, by lien on all equipment owned by the Company, which, on December 31, 1926 (including new equipment costing approximately $9,200,000 to be acquired out of the proceeds of these bonds) had a depreciated book value of $77,221,148 over outstanding equipment trust certificates, and on $23,703,000 par value of preferred stock of The Texas and Pacific Railway Company, on which dividends at the rate of 5% per annum are being paid.

After giving effect to this financing, there will be outstanding in the hands of the public, $112,840,500 principal amount of First and Refunding Mortgage 5% Bonds, being at the rate of $33,355 per mile on the 3,383 miles of railroad on which the bonds are a first lien. The aggregate of the prior liens and the First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds outstanding will be $238,016,000 principal amount, or at the rate of $35,345 per mile on the 6,734 miles of railroad subject to the mortgage, without making any allowance for the other valuable property on which they are a lien. The prior liens may not be increased; they may be acquired or deposited under the First and Refunding Mortgage without impairment of lien, but until so deposited they may not be renewed or extended.

Following the First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds the Company has outstanding $51,350,000 principal amount of General Mortgage 4% Bonds due March 1, 1975, $71,800,100 par value of Preferred Stock and $82,839,500 par value of Common Stock, having a total present market value of approximately $140,000,000.

In addition to its directly owned lines the Company owns 87¼% of the stock of New Orleans, Texas & Mexico Railway Company, which is pledged to secure $13,156,000 principal amount of the Company's 5½% Secured Serial Gold Bonds, and over 60% of the stock of The Texas and Pacific Railway Company. New Orleans, Texas & Mexico Railway Company in turn owns all the stock of International-Great Northern Railroad Company. Including these companies and their subsidiaries, the system operated by the Company aggregates 12,357 miles and extends from St. Louis on the East to Kansas City, Omaha and Pueblo on the West and to Memphis, New Orleans, Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston, Galveston, San Antonio, El Paso, the Rio Grande Valley and the Mexican border on the South and West. The Company also owns an undivided one-half interest in the common stock of The Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad Company.

The Gross Income of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company for the year ended December 31, 1926, applicable to the payment of interest on funded debt and other fixed charges, before Federal income taxes, amounted to $24,930,072, while such charges, after giving effect to the present financing, amount to $15,181,261.

Application will be made in due course to list these bonds on the New York Stock Exchange."

THE UNDERSIGNED WILL RECEIVE SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR THE ABOVE BONDS, SUBJECT TO ALLOTMENT, AT 100% and ACCRUED INTEREST TO DATE OF DELIVERY.

Missouri Pacific Railroad Company First and Refunding Mortgage 6% Gold Bonds, Series "D," due February 1, 1949, which are to be called for redemption on August 1, 1927 at 107½% and accrued interest, Missouri Pacific Railroad Company First and Refunding Mortgage 6% Gold Bonds, Series "E," due May 1, 1955, which have been called for redemption on May 1, 1927 at 107½% and accrued interest and Missouri Pacific Railroad Company Three-Year 5% Secured Gold Notes due July 1, 1927, will be accepted in payment for the new bonds on a 4% interest basis computed on the redemption price, provided notice of the amount of such bonds or notes to be tendered in payment is given not less than five days prior to the date fixed for delivery of and payment for the new bonds.

The undersigned reserve the right to close the subscription at any time without notice, to reject any application, to allot a smaller amount than applied for and to make allotments in their uncontrolled discretion.

The above bonds are offered if, when and as issued and received by the undersigned and subject to the approval by any public authorities that may be necessary of the issuance of the bonds and their sale to the undersigned and to the approval by their counsel of all legal proceedings in connection therewith. Thumbs Down! Workers on Seasonal Unemployment

By B. C. Forbes

B. C. Forbes

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Thumbs down!

That's the answer of workmen to the suggestion of a builder that it would mean steadier employment through the Winter months, and would therefore be beneficial to building workers, were they to accept willingly a reduction of, say, 10 per cent. in wages during the annual slack season when it costs more to handle materials.

Some of the letters received are very bitter. The writers see in the suggestion only a tricky scheme to get them to work for less money for the sake, not of providing steady employment, but of enriching the bank accounts of builders and other capitalists. The letters reveal clearly that intense suspicion and distrust exists between building workers and those employing them.

A BROOKLYN, N. Y., reader who signs his letter "A Building Trades Worker," writes:

"If you are for benefiting the condition of the workingman put in your column a suggestion for a 10 per cent. increase in wages, a five-day week with six days' pay.

"The workers in the building trades know better now than to rely on promises.

"What do you care for the conditions under which a man works? Do you care if he has steady work? You do not.

"It is next to impossible to assure any of the building trades steady work. There is bound to be an idle period between jobs, which proves beneficial to this group of hard-working men."

ANOTHER constructive suggestion comes from a Detroit worker. Thus: "It is generally conceded that a worker's wages is based on his cost of living. Does the cost of living decrease or increase during the Winter time? Undoubtedly, it increases in many items, fuel for heating purposes, warmer clothing, a larger amount of heat-producing foods, doctor's bills, and a whole host of other commodities.

"It is not unreasonable to suppose that, should reduction in wages take place at a time when the cost of living has largely increased, it would have the effect of further lowering the efficiency of the worker, because he would require to cut down on some of the vital necessaries of life.

"I can conceive of a better method of overcoming seasonal unemployment. It is a well known fact that almost all large industrial concerns allot a certain amount of their profits towards depreciation. Now, I think that it is within the bounds of possibility that a scheme of mutual insurance between the employer and worker would overcome this difficulty of seasonal unemployment.

"The workers could contribute a certain sum from their wages each week and the employers could also contribute a certain amount. During seasonal unemployment, wages could be reduced to what the industry could stand, and enough drawn from the Central insurance fund to keep the workers' purchasing power and his standards of living at the same level all the year round."

N. Y. MUTUAL LIFE HAS ITS BEST YEAR

Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, the first mutual legal reserve life insurance company in America, which began business on February 1, 1843, placed new insurance in a total of $598,240,067 in the year 1926, the largest annual production in its history. On December 31 1926, its total of insurance in force was $3,515,355,080.

Payments made under policy contracts in 1926 were $99,355,259.45 and receipts from policyholders were $134,808,634.04.

Among the payments under contracts in 1926 were $34,452,755.66 in death claims, $3,894,6[illegible].96 in Endowments matured $2,416,218.38 under Annuities and $35,0[illegible],971.34 in dividends. All dividends were paid to policyholders. The Company was organized as a mutual company, and it has never had stock.

The Company's 1926 mortality was very favorable and this saving has a direct bearing upon dividend-paying ability.

Taxation was heavy—this expense being set. During 1926 the Company paid $3,102,768.37 for Federal, State County and Municipal taxes.

On December 31, 1926, the Company's assets were $798,152,133.68, and liabilities were $741,384,540.86. The Contingency Reserve (the surplus) was $56,767,592.82. The gain in assets was substantial, being $51,945,098.38.

The Company deems the outlook for life insurance very favorable.

STOCK TRADERS OPPOSED, BUT BOTH WIN

Despite widespread belief to the contrary, there are people who sit in Boston board rooms day in and day out and make money. Like the devotees of Monte Carlo, they frequently play by "system." The "system" that works so well for one may not work at all for another, which appears to show that their transactions are very largely influenced by mental processes that can never be charted.

Two men who sit in the same board room, not far from the Boston Evening American office, made about $100,000 each in the past year. Neither thinks the other a particularly skillful operator. One takes a few points profit and trades in and out with disconcerting frequency. The other buys the good ones and stays with them until his profits pile high. One started with a net fortune of one hundred dollars.

As noted in this column yesterday, W. B. Weissblatt, new treasurer of the Contoocook Mills Corporation, is only 33 years old. It is believed he is the youngest mill treasurer in New England. Contoocook Mills, with stocking manufacturing plant at Hillsboro, N. H., reports for the year ended December 31, 1926, net profit after charges of $12,484, against $208 in the previous year.

W. B. Weissblatt

At the end of 1926 current assets totaled $358,647. There were no current liabilities outstanding. The report of the treasurer says in part: "The business conditions that exist are still unsatisfactory. Orders are very small and the hand-to-mouth buying seems to exist with no prospect of their changing. We have on file February 1 orders for about 20,000 dozen stockings, which is less orders than on file February 1, 1926. Rather than to increase the stock on hand of hosiery, we continued for nine months of 1926 to run our hosiery department three days a week. On Jan. 3, 1927, the mill was started on full time, 48 hours per week."

Redmond & Co., New York, announce the opening of their Boston office located in the new First National Bank Building, 1 Federal street. The office will be managed jointly by James Jackson and Roger J. Gilmore.

James Jackson

Mr. Jackson was for many years associated with Lee, Higginson & Co., Boston, was afterwards vice-president of the State Street Trust Company, Boston, and more recently treasurer of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. During the World War, he was manager of the American Red Cross in New England. Mr. Gilmore was formerly president of the Packard Motor Car Co. of New York.

He severed his connection with that concern to enter the investment field subsequently establishing the firm of Gilmore & Co. to specialize in underwritings and reorganizations.

The business of Redmond & Co., one of the old line investment houses in New York's financial district, was established in 1882 by Henry S. Redmond. Some ten years later the name of the firm was changed to Redmond, Kerr & Co., and in 1904 to the present name of Redmond & Co.

The membership in the New York Stock Exchange dates back to 1892. Redmond & Co. also maintains offices in Philadelphia and Baltimore and in Albany, N. Y. The firm has always been actively engaged in municipal, railroad, public utility and other corporate financing, and has taken a prominent part, either as underwriters or participants, in the heavy foreign financing of recent years.

Announcement of the projected opening and the association of former Treasurer Jackson with Redmond & Co. was exclusively made in this column several weeks ago.

Boston Consolidated Gas Co. is today paying off $10,000,000 6½ per cent. preferred stock at 105 and dividend.

In the half year ended Dec. 31 1926, Edwards Manufacturing Co. of Augusta, Me., lost $175,962 after depreciation and marking down inventories to market. This compares with a similar loss of $43,09[illegible] in the first six months of 1926 and $14,907 in the last six months of 1925.

Object of Deepest Reverence

It Speaks to Us From the Ancient Past

"THE VOLTO SANTO" OR "HOLY FACE" OF LUCCA.

This sacred image, kept piously covered throughout the year except on three holy days, when the public is allowed to look upon it, represents traditions and miraculous legends of high antiquity.

The faithful that gaze upon this figure, crucified and crowned, believe that it was carved from cedarwood by Nicodemus, and that in the eighth century, twelve hundred years ago, it was miraculously transported to Lucca.

In the Middle Ages, the fame of this holy object had spread all over Europe. Many chapels in its honor were erected, although only one contained the great treasure.

It is difficult for some of us now to realize the intense reverence—the humble adoration paid to this sacred image.

But it is for all of us to respect the belief and the faith of others as we respect a man's belief in his own father and his mother.

The main thing in this country is that every man should believe as HE chooses, that no man should be persecuted for his belief and that none should insist on others adopting his ideas or her ideas, religious, political or otherwise.

The Era of Snoopery

It Will Not Be Accepted Supinely, Nor Will It Last Forever

"Spies are digging the grave of the American Government!"

Thus Senator Borah, not usually an alarmist. He went on:

"Every conceivable action of mind and body will soon be under the direction and surveillance of some bureau. Inspectors and spies will leer upon the citizen from every street corner and accompany him constantly on his daily avocations.

"We will have a republic in name but a bureaucracy at heart, the most wasteful, the most extravagant, the most demoralizing and deadly form of government that God has ever permitted to torture the human family."

Is the picture overdrawn? Listen:

One of every dozen of American men today works for the Government—local, State or national—many in the capacity of spies.

The Anti-Saloon League, with eminent sanction, evèn advises one member of a family to spy upon the other members and report them for any infraction of Mrs. Grundy's rules. Sons and daughters adjured to snitch on fathers and mothers!

Ours is an era of cellar smellers, spies, dicks, income tax sleuths, snoops, scandalmongers, stool pigeons, gossips, investigators, inspectors, squealers, exterminators, health regulators, informers. No secret of a man's business is his own. There is nothing in his private life that is not in danger of becoming public property.

Liberal-minded men only a few years ago were congratulating themselves that government by espionage and oppression, the most dangerous and most surely fatal form of government ever known, had been sent to humanity's discard.

Then by a malign fate, as a sequence of the World War, it suddenly began to rear its ugly head again, paradoxically choosing for its first habitat the country which, for more than a century and a quarter, had held itself to be the model for free peoples.

Other peoples, some with little knowledge but great yearnings for freedom, had copied their constitutions after ours and announced their intention of following in our footsteps. We can but hope that they will not all imitate our backsliding.

Fortunately, the warning sounded by Senator Borah and the growing group of statesmen who see this problem as he sees it is falling on attentive ears. Not much longer will the reign of snoopery be accepted supinely.

HARD LUCK STORY THAT BEATS ALL

By DR. FRANK CRANE

I SAW a news item in the paper the other day and whenever I am feeling bad and as though the world had given me an unjust wallop, I like to get it out and read it. It shows me that I am not so bad off after all.

There is a man in Los Angeles who told a hard luck story to the judge, about as follows:

He said he was a prosperous business man for twenty-five years and then fate began to hand him a few.

First he lost all his money and tried to recoup his finances by ranching.

Then fate settled down to work.

His windmill tank blew down, then his cow died, and then a mule that he had just bought for $500 passed away.

He got discouraged with farming and moved into the city.

This did him no good. There was no use trying to dodge his jinx. He broke three fingers, then his nose and three ribs were broken and also his collarbone.

Afterwards he had paralysis of one leg from a splinter of glass.

Besides this his mother, father and brother were now seriously ill.

To top it off his wife, Maggie, had a dog that bit him whenever she commanded it to. She was stronger than he and could whip him and he didn't know what to do about it.

She called him "Jigga" because he was so henpecked, and the last straw was that after he was in jail somebody slammed a door on him and smashed his thumb.

He was arrested when he telephoned the police to come and get him away from his wife. They found him in bed trying to comfort himself with a bottle of bootleg.

The judge was so grieved that he fined him $100 and then suspended the fine, and let him go with an expression of sympathy.

The news items said the judge was moved to tears, and I don't blame him. I wiped my eye a little myself.

What Do You Know?

Train yourself in quick response by noting the time it takes you to answer these questions each day. Aim to beat your record of the day before.

Complete these quotations:

1. "Kind hearts are more than ———
   And simple faith than Norman blood."—Tennyson.
2. "I know not where His ——— lift
   Their fronded palms in air,
   I only know I cannot drift
   Beyond his love and care."—Whittier.
3. "The heights by great men reached and kept
   Were not attained by sudden ———."—Longfellow.

Rearrange, so that words meaning nearly the same are in pairs:

4. Languid	Wise
5. Plausible	Sensitive
6. Sagacious	Parched
7. Tender	Gracious
8. Dry	Feeble
9. Benign	Feasible

Which statements are false:

10. Stephen A. Douglas was called the "Little Giant."
11. Bret Harte wrote "Locksley Hall."
12. Alexander the Great lived in the 4th century A. D.
13. Magellan was killed by savages in the Philippine Islands.
14. El Dorado is an ideally rich territory.
15. Nashua is in New Hampshire.

CENTURY-OLD BANKS.

BAY STATE boasts a number of century old banks. PRESIDENT GEORGE MUMFORD'S Atlantic National Bank will be added to the list next year. PRESIDENT HARRY C. FABYAN'S Brighton Five Cent Savings Bank is in its 66th year. It is perhaps the only bank in the country whose first president was a school teacher. He was JOHN RUGGLES, headmaster of the Brighton High School, away back in 1861.

DRAMATIC EXPERIENCE.

HERBERT MURLESS, high-grade bond expert in the Atlantic National Bank Building, Postoffice square, is among the few financial "topnotchers" who have had experience in "the newspaper game." Years ago MR. MURLESS was a dramatic critic in Hartford, Ct. The only plays he now reviews are "market plays."

WAITING.

PATROLMAN HENRY TIBBETTS of NEWTON, day clerk at headquarters, is about the last man in the world a stranger would identify as a policeman. He appears more like a merchant or bank clerk. Henry, some time ago, was assigned to guard a house in which burglars were expected. He ensconced himself in a room where the family plate and jewels were stored, lit a cigar and waited. A burglar jimmied open the front door, picked the locks on two other doors and finally reached the "treasure chamber." The first thing he saw was Potrolman Tibbetts, still smoking away in his easy chair, with a business-like revolver pointed in his direction. There was no fight.

Between directing the People's Choral Union of Boston, the Fitchburg and Keene choral societies, and the musical festivals in those two cities and in Brockton; directing the musical activities of Lasell Seminary in Auburndale, and the Brockton High School, this young musician has his week's work cut out for him.

BOW WOWS.

The Borzoi, or Russian wolf-hound, bench at Boston's annual dog show is sure to attract admiring throngs each February. Many of the beautiful animals seen hereabouts are from the kennels of MORTON M. America is now the home of the best Borzoi blood, according to PALMER.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

HERE is the story of two civilized people who based their marriage on intelligence rather than emotion—reason rather than romance. They both regret this fact now. They believe that a marriage so based is a failure. And Gene thinks that this letter proves her point.

Dear Miss Robinson:

This is from one who entered whole-heartedly into a "Marriage On a Business Basis." Now, after eight successful years, I'm frankly dubious and unhappy over it.

My husband and I are ideal mates, physically, intellectually, spiritually, observers remark. We do not quarrel, we do not "get on each other's nerves." But—here's the point. We are both utterly starved for ROMANCE from which we so loftily swore independence. We have both discovered that real love exists—outside.

Five years ago I met a man, brilliant and kindly (rare combination!) and we have adored each other ever since, if you can express our deep and wordless devotion that way, for we have not been so brainless as to discuss it. He does not demand anything that I cannot give. He does not distress me with favors, yet he stands ready to offer me life itself.

And my husband is very much in love with a girl whom I know and admire. She visits us occasionally at my invitation. I realize the happiness that the most casual meeting gives to both of them. They positively glow in each other's presence. Those two could find ROMANCE gloriously—even if only for a time.

We can master it, of course, as we intend to. Yet that constant hurt of feeling cheated, tantalized, denied of the one perfect and complete expression of life is harming us, I know. It is impossible with our hearts elsewhere to live a true marriage. We fraternize amiably, and have unlimited respect and consideration for each other—but, my dear, that is not marriage, though it might constitute a precious background for it.

Both Still Young.

We are both young yet, good looking and adventurous. Is the whole of our youth to be so bitterly thwarted?

There's no way out, of course. Divorce would be unfair to our child, and to the one of us deprived of him. A "gentleman's agreement" in favor of freelove? It might sound reasonable to some, but neither of us believe in it. It would be utterly unfair to give love when you could not shoulder responsibilities that love might foster.

So, here we are, Elsie—two excellent 'business partners,' prosperous, tolerant, with a congenial home and a secure future and a bitter and terrible sense of incompletion.

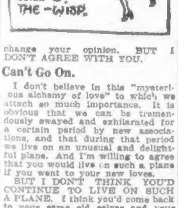
If I had it to do over again I'd never marry, unless he simply glittered with Romance. Then, if it didn't endure, I could mark the end of a perfect period, not feel the loss of it altogether.

Don't advise anyone to marry out of pure reason. It may succeed until real love comes—but life, after that, is going to be a sorry thing whichever way they solve it.

GENE.

And so you think you'd both be happier if you went to your "soul mates"? You're sure that these two outsiders have something to offer you which would make life absolutely different—infinitely more radiant and satisfactory. You feel that they have awakened your true selves, which selves must lie dormant while you stay bound to each other.

That's what you think, and I realize that nothing I can say will change your opinion. BUT I DON'T AGREE WITH YOU.



Can't Go On.

I don't believe in this "mysterious alchemy of love" to which we attach so much importance. It is obvious that we can be tremendously swayed and exhilarated for a certain period by new associations, and that during that period we live on an unusual and delightful plane. And I'm willing to agree that you would live on such a plane if you went to your new loves.

BUT I DON'T THINK YOU'D CONTINUE TO LIVE ON SUCH A PLANE. I think you'd come back to your same old selves and your same old adjustment and attitude. For I don't believe that love makes us over. We're the same old "two and six-pence" with the new love that we were with the old. If you find life dull and prosaic with one person, you're going to find it dull and prosaic with another—after the first thrill has worn off. For YOU yourself are the one who makes your life happy or unhappy, rosy or drab, and not your mate.

And so I believe that if you were freed tomorrow to realize Romance you'd soon weary of it. For, having once chosen the placid program of reason, you'd hark back to it again as surely as a wanderer harks back to home.

On Sunspots and Wars

By Garrett P. Serviss

"IN 1927 and 1929, when the eleven-year period of sunspots attains its maximum, and when this maximum will coincide with the maxima of two other periods of sixty years and thirty-five years there will be a great human activity of the highest historical importance, which may again change the political chart of the world!"

This prediction with an astrological tang, regarded as an omen of another world war right on our heels, was received from Moscow by the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and was read before that august body at its annual meeting in Philadelphia. Its author is Professor A. Tchijovsky of the University of Moscow.

Professor Tchijovsky's central theme is that all great wars have followed periods of intense sunspot activity. This is another of those omnium gatherum chases after coincidences that are characteristic of astrology, but decidedly not characteristic of true scientific research.

Nobody has proved, either statistically or by chain of causation that great wars follow or are connected with the appearance of spots upon the sun. No statistical proof COULD be given because there are no records of sunspot periodicity extending back even so long as a hundred years. The eleven-year period is quite variable and the existence of the alleged thirty-five-year and sixty-year periods is entirely hypothetical.

As to causation, the case is even more visionary. Two of the great scientific bodies of the day—the weather bureau and the Smithsonian Institute—are in disaccord over so relatively simple a question as that of the possible connection between special states of activity in the sun and the climatic conditions of the earth. Yet the Moscow professor does not hesitate to assert that the varying physical state of the sun so affects the minds and emotions of men that they rush into great wars and begin to massacre one another when the solar god puts on his war spots! So, placed on high, like old Timotheus, "with his breathing flute and sounding lyre," the sun with his spots can "swell the soul to rage or kindle soft desire!"

This is as much like astrology as one star is like another, and as much unlike science as a puffball is unlike a potato. The defenders of Professor Tchijovsky's extraordinary prognostic—and there will surely be defenders—will plant themselves on the well-known ground that the sun is "the father of life" for the earth, and that is true enough.

But it is an infinitely far call from the general physical, electrical and chemical influences which the solar radiation exercises upon the growth and development of living organisms, both plant and animal, to an imaginary influence over men's thoughts and conduct. That is the weakness of astrology, because the sun and the moon cause tides in the oceans, they say, "Why should they not also produce oscillations of the human spirit, or guide the destinies of men and nations?" That kind of argument is fatally easy and fatally fallacious.

There is no objection whatever to a critical study of the influences of solar radiation in all possible directions, and it is not at all unlikely that we have many unexpected things to learn about it.
